Dixon-Yates Pact Termed "Improved" By Frank Weitzel

Comptroller General Tells View.
At Atomic Energy Group Hearing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Congress' financial watchdog said today the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract has been greatly improved but that he couldn't say whether it is a good one.

That was the way acting Comptroller General Frank H. Weitzel sized up the 500-million-dollar contract at hearings on it by the Senate-Atomic Energy committee.

Also at the hearings: 1. Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission repeatedly and at times warmly contended that the uproar over the deal hasn't impaired the atomic weapons program in the slightest.

2. Sens. Gore (D-Tenn.) and Anderson (D-Minn.) took the position that the contract carries what Gore called "a very glaring possibility of a tax windfall to Dixon-Yates."

3. Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) stepped up to bat for the contract, which would bring about construction of a 107-million-dollar generating plant in his state. He said it "compares very favorably" with the performance of the Tennessee Valley Authority power program on an actual cost basis.

Fulbright also challenged what he termed allegations that Dixon-Yates would make a "guaranteed profit" of 9 per cent on its deal with the government. He said the Dixon-Yates company has taken "a very substantial risk" and will earn about 3.8 per cent on its total investment, compared with 6 per cent for regulated private utilities.

The Dixon-Yates contract is with the AEC. It provides for construction of a generating plant at West Memphis, Ark., to feed power into the TVA system for 25 to 45 years to replace energy TVA supplies to atomic plants.

The contract has become a center of political controversy. Weitzel testified that not all objections raised against it by his General Accounting Office have been met, but that major ones have been taken care of by last minute changes.

"We definitely feel that many improvements have been made in this contract in the interests of the government," Weitzel said.

"We were not the negotiators, and I can't say whether we would or would not have signed the contract. But it is a much better contract than was here last week."

Asked by reporters whether he now considers it a good contract, Weitzel replied: "I can't answer that question."

On behalf of Congress, GAO keeps an eye on the way the government spends its money. AEC Chairman Strauss told the committee he was afraid its hearings had produced "a misleading impression" to the effect "that the weapons program has been impaired."

"In my opinion," he said, "it has not."

AEC Commissioner Thomas E. Murray had said in previous testimony that the Dixon-Yates issue had diverted the commission's attention from its primary job—producing fissionable materials and atomic weapons.

Ellis Island Closes After 62 Years Serving Aliens

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Ellis Island, through whose portals some 20 million immigrants passed in 62 years, was closed today.

The last alien housed on the historic little island in New York harbor came off at 10:15 a. m. and a few hours later the last load of furniture needed immediately by the Immigration Service also was ferried ashore.

All immigration activities have been consolidated at the district headquarters in mid-Manhattan occupied by the service a decade ago.

Ellis Island, once a picnic ground, then an arsenal, later a fort and finally the nation's busiest immigration station, fell victim to lack of business.

In its peak years in the early part of the century it channeled as many as 5,000 newcomers a day into the new world. To speed the tidal waves of humanity into the far corners of the country, there were as many as 20 railroad ticket agents on duty in the processing center.

Russia Likes Peace Plan, With Changes

Vishinsky Tells UN
Atomic Proposals
Belong In Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 12 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky said today Moscow would like to take part in President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program—but on conditions so far fought by the West.

The Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister told the U.N. Assembly's political committee that the proposed international atomic agency suggested by the United States and its atomic Allies should be inside the United Nations and subject to the Security Council.

The Eisenhower plan, as endorsed by Britain, France, Canada, Belgium, South Africa and Australia, envisions the creation of the international agency as a specialized agency of the U.N., with a loose tie to the world organization.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American delegate, replied briefly to Vishinsky. For the first time, he told the committee that the United States never has said the agency should not be linked to the Security Council. He stressed, however, that the United States was anxious to avoid getting the atomic agency tangled up in the veto.

Lodge will make a detailed reply early next week, probably Monday. Vishinsky made these points in his speech:

1. The United States and its atomic Allies want the proposed international atomic agency to be a specialized agency of the U.N., having a loose tie to the U.N.

Moscow wants the agency to be definitely within the U.N. and reporting to the Security Council.

2. The West wants the agency to be a clearing house for authorizing movement of fissionable material from one place to another as needed.

Russia opposes this provision, claiming it is an infringement on the sovereignty of nations and that there is no appeal from the decision of the agency.

3. There is little chance for success of the proposed agency and, in fact, the entire plan if the major powers which have the veto right in the council do not agree in advance that they would not use atomic weapons in the future.

West has opposed such a provision—but Vishinsky reiterated today that Russia would not insist upon such a pledge as a condition on joining the agency.

4. The international agency should be instructed to consider methods of preventing the use of atomic materials for warlike purposes. The Western proposals do not mention that point. Vishinsky said President Eisenhower in his speech to the Assembly last Dec. 8 indicated the plan would relieve the world of the threat of atomic destruction.

5. The international agency should be instructed to consider methods of preventing the use of atomic materials for warlike purposes. The Western proposals do not mention that point. Spaak Discloses Uranium Pact

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Paul Henri Spaak disclosed today that Belgium plans to work out a new agreement with the United States for using uranium from the rich African Congo fields.

He said it would carry provisions under which the United States would lend a hand to Belgium's own atomic industrialization.

The agreement would replace a 1944 pact, since altered in some degree, which has come in for hot political criticism in Belgium.

For one thing, critics of the government have accused it of virtually giving the uranium away without getting help in return for Belgium's nuclear research program. The price has been kept secret.

Spaak talked to reporters today after he and Minister Sir Robert Scott of the British Embassy had conferred for an hour with Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr.

Marilyn Leaves Hospital Warily

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 12 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe left the hospital today in an exit that would have been worthy of an Alfred Hitchcock thriller.

Witnesses said the actress sneaked out a back door, peered up and down alleys and then sped off in a waiting car. Her ex-husband, Joe DiMaggio, was not in view.

Inherits $40,000

Joseph Kogut, 45, a railroad fireman, poses with his invalid father, Charles, and his mother in his home in Cuyler, N. Y., after the Cortland County villager learned he was to net $40,000 in a bequest from the late Miss Margaret Jorgensen of Oshkosh, Wis., who died in 1951. Kogut said he met her in Chicago four years ago, struck up a conversation about politics and took her to dinner. It was the only time he ever saw the 66-year-old woman, he stated.

Fred B. Snite, Plucky Polio Victim, Dies

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Nov. 12 (AP)—Fred B. Snite Jr., the plucky infantile paralysis victim who lived 18 years and 7 months in an iron lung, died today.

Snite, now 44, was stricken with complete paralysis at Peiping, China, in April 1936, a few weeks before his 26th birthday. He lay at death's door in a Chinese hospital for months, then was taken to his home in Chicago in an iron lung.

Since then he has married and become the father of three children. His fortitude and good nature became an inspiration to thousands and his fame became worldwide.

Lying flat on his back in the cylindrical "iron lung," he had traveled many thousands of miles, including a journey to the shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes in France where he prayed for a return to active life.

The prayers were only partially answered, and then by the development of a lightweight "lung" which permitted him to sit up a few hours at a time. He could actually leave the artificial respirator for short periods.

Despite his great handicap, Snite tried valiantly to live a normal life. He attended sports events in his power-equipped van, and was a regular contestant in bridge tournaments in the area.

He spent summers in Chicago, where his father was a small loan financier. His winters were spent at the family's estate on Indian Creek in Miami Beach.

The younger Snite sometimes referred to himself as "The Boiler Kid." He was married Aug. 10, 1939, to the former Miss Teresa Larkin of Dayton, Ohio.

His father spent a fortune to keep him alive, and carefully planned for family events to revolve around Fred Jr. The father told close friends early this week that the "Boiler Kid" was ailing. His death came as a surprise to countless admirers.

An eminent orthopedist who had treated the self-styled "Boiler Kid" for several years gave reporters a frank account of the case in June 1940. He reported there had been slow improvement in the muscles not totally paralyzed—including the legs, back and abdomen. He related that Snite, wearing his chest respirator and assisted by attendants, could walk across a room. But, he concluded, the victim must spend the rest of his days in his mechanical apparatus.

And Snite took that—and all else that life gave or denied him—with a smile.

Police Seek Three Baltimore Youths

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Police issued a 13-state pickup today for three Baltimore boys who have been missing since yesterday when they apparently started a 1,100-mile hitchhiking trip to the Mississippi River.

The three youngsters, all 13, are David Embury, Bob Scott and Jerry Turnbaugh, classmates in the eighth grade at Roland Park Public School here.

A notebook left behind by one contained plans for a projected trip which led parents to believe the three are hitchhiking through Virginia, Tennessee and Mississippi.

Man Bequeathed $40,000 From Woman He Befriended

CUYLER, N. Y., Nov. 12 (AP)—Joe Kogut, a handsome bachelor, slipped out of sooty coveralls and into a suit to greet newsmen who came to ask about his $40,000 inheritance from a woman he took to dinner four years ago and never saw again.

"She must have been a lonely woman," the 45-year-old railroad worker mused. "She must have enjoyed my company."

He spoke of Miss Margaret Jorgensen of Oshkosh, Wis., who died in 1951 at 66 and willed him all of her $142,000 estate. However, relatives claimed and won a large share. Attorney fees and administrative expenses claimed another large chunk.

Kogut is a fireman for the New York Central Railroad on a run between Buffalo and Syracuse. He used to be safety supervisor, working out of New York City, but he gave that up to move back to this tiny hamlet in central New York. He wanted to be closer to his parents. His father, Charles, is an invalid.

Kogut had just gotten home from Buffalo today when his phone started ringing. He recalled: "It was four years ago in Chicago. I was attending a railroad safety meeting and just coming down in the elevator."

"The election was just over and I remarked to the lady: 'It's been a rough day for the Democrats, hasn't it?'"

"She replied, 'You talk like a Democrat.'"

"I said, 'I am, but I don't always vote that way.'"

"It turned out she was a rock-ribbed Republican and we had a mild discussion."

"I took her to dinner. 'Afterwards, we said goodbye. I sent her Christmas cards. She wrote to me a few times.'"

"But I never saw her again." Kogut described Miss Jorgensen as an attractive woman. He said he thought she was about 55 years old then.

Three years ago, Kogut was notified that he had been willed her estate. But, according to Atty. Walter Patri of Oshkosh, co-executor of the estate, two brothers and a sister of Miss Jorgensen contested the will.

Each received $16,000 in a compromise settlement in Wisconsin's Winnebago County Court in August, 1952. Kogut paid $20,000 in inheritance taxes plus other fees, which cut his inheritance down to $40,000.

Final distribution of the estate was ordered last Tuesday in Winnebago County Court.

Hearing Called On John Harlan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Chairman Langer (R-ND) today called a public hearing Nov. 19 by the Senate Judiciary Committee on President Eisenhower's nomination of John Marshall Harlan to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Included in the same hearings will be 10 other nominations for judgeships, for U.S. attorney and for U.S. marshals submitted by the President to this special session of the Senate.

Agent Is "Scared"

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP)—James J. Metcalfe is one of a group of fearless former FBI agents who for decades ago tracked down John Dillinger and other desperate killers of that era.

Today Metcalfe, 48, was singled out to be toastmaster at a banquet of former FBI agents.

Said Metcalfe, "I'm scared."

Four Hurricanes Wallop Lloyd's For $112 Million

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Carol, Dolly, Edna and Hazel today sent the bill for their tragic sprees to Lloyd's and it came to a whopping $112 million dollars.

The four are the code names for hurricanes which roared out of the Caribbean this year and cut paths of devastation there and in the United States and Canada.

Underwriters at Lloyd's, the famous insurance firm, said they expect to pay out every few years on one hurricane, but that four in one season makes a heavy burden.

Carol, Dolly, Edna and Hazel are estimated to have killed more than 300 people and caused damage of $1,355,000,000. The $112 million represents the amount it will cost Lloyd's underwriters.

Dulles Considers Having Democrat As A Consultant

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Democratic senators said today they would welcome the appointment by Secretary of State Dulles of a Democratic adviser if that action is a forerunner of increased consultation on foreign policy.

Associates of Dulles said earlier in the day that he is prepared to name a Democratic consultant if leaders of the opposing party suggest a qualified man. Dulles himself served in such an advisory role with former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other Democratic officials before President Eisenhower's election.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview that the selection by Dulles of a Democrat to act as adviser would be a "proper step" toward cementing bipartisan cooperation on international affairs.

But Fulbright and other Democrats willing to comment made it clear that they are considerably more interested in having members of their party consulted about controversial issues in advance of any decision upon them than they are in having a Democrat assigned to the State Department.

"The real way for the administration to get cooperation is to invite the Democrats in and ask their advice before policy decisions are made, not just to notify them before it is publicly announced that a decision has been reached," Fulbright said.

Eisenhower has invited Democratic and Republican leaders to a White House meeting Nov. 17, and one influential senator, who asked not to be quoted by name, said he thinks the Democrats will try to find out at that session just where they stand.

Is No Precedent

Bricker contended there is no precedent for punishing a senator for the acts alleged against McCarthy—obstructing and abusing a Senate committee, and likewise giving abusive treatment to an Army general who appeared before McCarthy's own investigations subcommittee.

Stennis, a former Mississippi judge, accused McCarthy of exhibiting right up to the present a "moral contempt" of the Senate.

Failure to rebuke McCarthy, Stennis said, will amount to endorsing his conduct and thus telling the youth of the nation that McCarthy's behavior "is the high road of which the Senate approves, and upon which it likes to travel."

Crowds in the galleries began to dwindle as the third day of debate neared its end. Attendance of senators dropped, too.

Both Welker and McCarthy fired a series of questions at Stennis but neither replied directly to his charge that McCarthy's attacks on the Watkins committee—and on a Senate subcommittee which investigated him in 1952—were "slush and slime" on the Senate's good name.

McCarthy asked Stennis if he (Continued on Page 2; Col. 5)

Auto Workers Union Seeks 10-Cent Hike

DETROIT, Nov. 12 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers will demand an across-the-board 10-cent hourly pay increase in addition to a guaranteed annual wage when contracts with the auto industry expire in mid-1955.

The UAW also will ask that pensions be increased from a maximum of $144.50 to $192 a month.

This was disclosed today by Walter P. Reuther, president of both the CIO and UAW, before the UAW's 900-member collective bargaining conference.

Italian Jinx Again Strikes
Against Hollywood Marriage

ROME, Nov. 12 (AP)—That Roman jinx on Hollywood marriages struck again today. The latest victim: Rhonda Fleming.

The shapely redhead announced she will leave for Switzerland in about 10 days to divorce Dr. Lew Morrell, whom she married in Kanab, Utah, July 11, 1952. She had quietly established Swiss residence six months ago.

"There are no other personalities involved. It's simply incompatibility," explained Miss Fleming, who is here playing the film part of a Babylonian courtesan in a whistle-blowing costume of a pearl-studded bra and briefs, two bracelets and a smile. She had been seen frequently with Prince Aly Khan during his Italian visit last month.

"Rome's done it again," was the comment around this Hollywood-on-the-Tiber. Since Italy became a postwar international film producing center this is the fifth marriage involving Hollywood stars to blow up under the sultry Italian sun.

In 1949 Ingrid Bergman came to Italy to make "Stromboli" under the direction of Roberto Rossellini.

'Slush, Slime' Charge Hurlled At GOP Solon

Bricker And Goldwater
Defend Joe As Victim
Of Spiteful Slanders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) was assailed today as a spreader of "slush and slime," and defended as a victim of spiteful slanders, in the week's final session of the Senate debate on the question of censuring him.

The slush and slime charge came from Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.), a member of the special committee which recommended censure for McCarthy. Stennis argued the Senate must "condemn" McCarthy's conduct in order to set a standard of political honor.

Republican Sen. Bricker (Ohio) and Goldwater (Ariz.) came swiftly to McCarthy's defense, praising him as the symbol of American resistance to communism and blaming Communist influence for the move to rebuke him.

Protests Charge

Finally a second member of the censure committee, Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), took the floor and protested sharply against McCarthy's charge that the committee members were "unwitting handmaidens" of the Communist party.

Carlson declared McCarthy's accusation—made in a speech he put into the Congressional Record Wednesday—was untrue, was a violation of Senate rules and "is therefore out of order."

Goldwater (R-Ariz.) described the censure move as "the culminating act to destroy America's foremost fighter against communism," and accused McCarthy's foes of hypocrisy.

"The masterminds in this fight have said 'ing and meant another,'" (Lawwater declared. "Their propaganda is dripping with idealism, high-mindedness, and lofty sentiments. Their deeds have come from the darkness..."

Goldwater, lean and prematurely gray, spoke after Ohio's veteran Bricker declared a vote to censure McCarthy would "smack of legislative tyranny" and "would reflect a vindictive passion unworthy of the world's greatest deliberative body."

Bricker contended there is no precedent for punishing a senator for the acts alleged against McCarthy—obstructing and abusing a Senate committee, and likewise giving abusive treatment to an Army general who appeared before McCarthy's own investigations subcommittee.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower went duck hunting today for the first time in 20 years and brought down the daily limit of four birds in the first half hour of shooting.

Inherits $40,000

Man Bequeathed $40,000 From Woman He Befriended

CUYLER, N. Y., Nov. 12 (AP)—Joe Kogut, a handsome bachelor, slipped out of sooty coveralls and into a suit to greet newsmen who came to ask about his $40,000 inheritance from a woman he took to dinner four years ago and never saw again.

"She must have been a lonely woman," the 45-year-old railroad mused. "She must have enjoyed my company."

He spoke of Miss Margaret Jorgensen of Oshkosh, Wis., who died in 1951 at 66 and willed him all of her $142,000 estate. However, relatives claimed and won a large share. Attorney fees and administrative expenses claimed another large chunk.

Kogut is a fireman for the New York Central Railroad on a run between Buffalo and Syracuse. He used to be safety supervisor, working out of New York City, but he gave that up to move back to this hamlet in central New York.

He wanted to be closer to his parents. His father, Charles, is an invalid.

Kogut had just gotten home from Buffalo today when his phone started ringing. He recalled: "It was four years ago in Chicago. I was attending a railroad safety meeting and just coming down in the elevator."

"The election was just over and I remarked to the lady: 'It's been a rough day for the Democrats, hasn't it?'"

"She replied, 'You talk like a Democrat.'"

"I said, 'I am, but I don't always vote that way.'"

"It turned out she was a rock-ribbed Republican and we had a mild discussion."

"I took her to dinner."

"Afterwards, we said goodbye. I sent her Christmas cards. She wrote to me a few times."

"But I never saw her again."

Kogut described Miss Jorgensen as an attractive woman. He said he thought she was about 55 years old then.

Three years ago, Kogut was notified that he had been willed her estate.

But, according to Atty. Walter Patrl of Oshkosh, co-executor of the estate, two brothers and a sister of Miss Jorgensen contested the will.

Each received $16,000 in a compromise settlement in Wisconsin's Winnebago County Court in August, 1952. Kogut paid $20,000 in inheritance taxes plus other fees, which cut his inheritance down to $40,000. Final distribution of the estate was ordered last Tuesday in Winnebago County Court.

Hearing Called On John Harlan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Chairman Langer (R-ND) today called a public hearing Nov. 19 by the Senate Judiciary Committee on President Eisenhower's nomination of John Marshall Harlan to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Included in the same hearings will be 10 other nominations for judgeships, for U.S. attorney and for U.S. marshals submitted by the President to this special session of the Senate.

Four Hurricanes Wallop Lloyd's For $112 Million

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Carol, Dolly, Edna and Hazel today sent the bill for their tragic sprees to Lloyd's and it came to a whopping $112 million dollars.

The four are the code names for hurricanes which roared out of the Caribbean this year and cut paths of devastation there and in the United States and Canada.

Underwriters at Lloyd's, the famous insurance firm, said they expect to pay out every few years on one hurricane, but that four in one season makes a heavy burden.

Carol, Dolly, Edna and Hazel are estimated to have killed more than 300 people and caused damage of $1,355,000,000. The $112 million represents the amount it will cost Lloyd's underwriters.

Dulles Considers Having Democrat As A Consultant

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Democratic senators said today they would welcome the appointment by Secretary of State Dulles of a Democratic adviser if that action is a forerunner of increased consultation on foreign policy.

Associates of Dulles said earlier in the day that he is prepared to name a Democratic consultant if leaders of the opposing party suggest a qualified man. Dulles himself served in such an advisory role with former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other Democratic officials before President Eisenhower's election.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview that the selection by Dulles of a Democrat to act as adviser would be a "proper step" toward cementing bipartisan cooperation on international affairs.

But Fulbright and other Democrats willing to comment made it clear that they are considerably more interested in having members of their party consulted about controversial issues in advance of any decision upon them than they are in having a Democrat assigned to the State Department.

"The real way for the administration to get cooperation is to invite the Democrats in and ask their advice before policy decisions are made, not just to notify them before it is publicly announced that a decision has been reached," Fulbright said.

Eisenhower has invited Democratic and Republican leaders to a White House meeting Nov. 17, and one influential senator, who asked not to be quoted by name, said he thinks the Democrats will try to find out at that session just where they stand.

Is No Precedent
Bricker contended there is no precedent for punishing a senator for the acts alleged against McCarthy—obstructing and abusing a Senate committee, and likewise giving abusive treatment to an Army general who appeared before McCarthy's own investigations subcommittee.

Stennis, a former Mississippi judge, accused McCarthy of exhibiting right up to the present a "moral contempt" of the Senate.

Failure to rebuke McCarthy, Stennis said, will amount to endorsing his conduct and thus telling the youth of the nation that McCarthy's behavior "is the high road of which the Senate approves, and upon which it likes to travel."

Crowds in the galleries began to dwindle as the third day of debate neared its end. Attendance of senators dropped, too.

Both Welker and McCarthy fired a series of questions at Stennis but neither replied directly to his charge that McCarthy's attacks on the Watkins committee—and on a Senate subcommittee which investigated him in 1952—were "slush and slime" on the Senate's good name.

Auto Workers Union
Seeks 10-Cent Hike

DETROIT, Nov. 12 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers will demand an across-the-board 10-cent hourly pay increase in addition to a guaranteed annual wage when contracts with the auto industry expire in mid-1955.

The UAW also will ask that pensions be increased from a maximum of $144.50 to $192 a month. This was disclosed today by Walter P. Reuther, president of both the CIO and UAW, before the UAW's 900-member collective bargaining conference.

Italian Jinx Again Strikes
Against Hollywood Marriage

ROME, Nov. 12 (AP)—That Roman jinx on Hollywood marriages struck again today. The latest victim: Rhonda Fleming.

The shapely redhead announced she will leave for Switzerland in about 10 days to divorce Dr. Lew Morrill, whom she married in Kanab, Utah, July 11, 1952. She had quietly established Swiss residence six months ago.

"There are no other personalities involved. It's simply incompatibility," explained Miss Fleming, who is here playing the film part of a Babylonian courtesan in a whistle-pivoting costume of pearly-studded bra and briefs, two bracelets and a smile. She had been seen frequently with Prince Aly Khan during his Italian visit last month.

"Rome's done it again," was the comment around this Hollywood-on-the-Tiber. Since Italy became a postwar international film producing center this is the fifth marriage involving Hollywood stars to blow up under the sultry Italian sun.

In 1949 Ingrid Bergman came to Italy to make "Stromboli" under the direction of Roberto Rossellini. Husband Peter Lindstrom stayed home. Today, after one of the most publicized romances of a decade, Mrs. Lindstrom is Mrs. Roberto Rossellini and hasn't even been back to Hollywood.

Robert Taylor came to town to film "Quo Vadis" in 1950, the husband of Barbara Stanwyck in a "model" marriage. He was much photographed with Italian starlet Li de Leo—and divorce followed. Taylor is now married to Ursula Thiess, the German actress.

It was the Christmas season a year ago when Frank Sinatra flew to Rome to beg for a reconciliation with Ava Gardner, here making a movie days, and being escorted nightly by Spanish bullfighter Luis Dominguez. Result: No reconciliation and divorce.

Then Shelly Winters flew in to visit husband Vittorio Gassman. A few days later Miss Winters angrily summoned the press to announce her marriage was ended—and to express the belief Gassman would marry his frequent companion, Anna Maria Ferrero, youthful Italian starlet.

Gassman didn't but he and Miss Ferrero still are inseparable.

'Slush, Slime' Charge Hurlled At GOP Solon

Bricker And Goldwater
Defend Joe As Victim
Of Spiteful Slanders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) was assailed today as a spreader of "slush and slime," and defended as a victim of spiteful slanders, in the week's final session of the Senate debate on the question of censuring him.

The slush and slime charge came from Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.), a member of the special committee which recommended censure for McCarthy. Stennis argued the Senate must "condemn" McCarthy's conduct in order to set a standard of political honor.

Republican Sen. Bricker (Ohio) and Goldwater (Ariz.) came swiftly to McCarthy's defense, praising him as the symbol of American resistance to communism and blaming Communist influence for the move to rebuke him.

Protests Charge
Finally a second member of the censure committee, Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), took the floor and protested sharply against McCarthy's charge that the committee members were "unwitting handmaidens" of the Communist party.

Carlson declared McCarthy's accusation—made in a speech he put into the Congressional Record Wednesday—was untrue, was a violation of Senate rules and "is therefore out of order."

Goldwater (R-Ariz.) described the censure move as "the culmination of a long and sordid campaign to destroy America's foremost fighter against communism," and accused McCarthy's foes of hypocrisy.

"The masterminds in this fight have said 'slush and meant another,'" Goldwater declared. "Their propaganda is dripping with idealism, high-mindedness, and lofty sentiments. Their deeds have come from the darkness."

Goldwater, lean and prematurely gray, spoke after Ohio's veteran Bricker declared a vote to censure McCarthy would "smack of legislative tyranny" and "would reflect a vindictive passion unworthy of the world's greatest deliberative body."

FBI To Investigate Alleged Vote Bribes

Charles County Residents Paid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell said today the FBI is investigating published reports that certain residents of Charles County, Md., received money from Republican politicians after voting in the Nov. 2 general election.

The Washington Post and Times Herald said in a copyrighted story today that it had received eight statements—six of them sworn—that voters in that county had received cash after casting their votes.

Three voters swore, the story said, that State Sen. James B. Monroe was the man who gave them money. Monroe, the incumbent, won the election by 82 votes out of more than 7,000 cast.

Brownell's announcement noted that the U.S. criminal code provides fines up to $10,000 or two years imprisonment, or both, for either offering or accepting a payment to influence a vote in the election of a federal official.

The federal law applies only to such officials.

A congressional contest was involved in the Charles County election, as well as state and county races. Charles is part of the 5th Maryland District where Democrat

Richard Lankford beat Rep. Small (R-Md.).

Monroe has not been available for comment on the Post and Times Herald story. Associates said he was away from Waldorf, Md., his home.

The story was accompanied by a picture of a group of persons standing between two autos. The newspaper said one of the affidavits described the scene as depicting the transfer of money from Monroe to a woman voter.

Other Republicans alleged to have given voters money on election day were not named in the story, which said the affidavits described sums of $1 and $2 being given to various registered Republican voters after they cast ballots at the White Plains polling place near Waldorf.

Maryland Atty. Gen. Rollins and States Atty. Robert T. Barbour of Charles County said the Post and Times Herald had given them photostats of various statements alleging election irregularities.

Rollins said last night that any action would have to be initiated on the county level. Barbour said he would make a preliminary investigation before determining what—if anything—he eventually would do with the material.

Democrat Walter W. Bowling Sr., lost to Monroe, said he was considering contesting the election.

M'Keldin Chides Army Engineers In Fla. Speech

BOCA RATON, Fla., Nov. 12 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin told southern governors today how Maryland helped combat a move to pollute Chesapeake Bay and he took Army Engineers to task for rejecting state recommendations in dam building.

In remarks prepared for a discussion on water conservation and development, McKeldin told the southern governors conference that Chesapeake Bay marine life had been threatened by a plan of the federal Department of the Interior. He called it "a grandiose plan to run a tunnel from the anthracite coal mines up around Scranton and Wilkes Barre, Pa., down into the (Susquehanna) River near the head of the bay."

"I immediately called our mining officials, water authorities, tidalwater fisheries specialists, conservation officials and others into a meeting in my office," he said.

"We lined up all the possible damage that such pollution might cause... well armed with the facts, a committee of our group went to Washington and to high authorities there. We left, after considerable discussion, with assurance that the dream would be dropped and no such drainage tunnel would be built into Maryland waters."

McKeldin then told of plans of the Corps of Engineers to build a new dam on the Potomac River at Little Falls, Md., to provide an additional water supply for the District of Columbia and its environs.

"We have no objection to providing water from the Potomac for the people of Washington, but we don't want our fisheries on the river permanently destroyed," he said.

He said an old dam at Little Falls would be left standing just below the new dam.

McKeldin said engineers were asked to make fish ladders on both the old and the new dams but "so far our recommendations have been rejected, although I am confident that we made a good case with convincing reasons."

"In this particular case, Virginia fishermen as well as Maryland fishermen are affected," he said.

A special study committee had recommended that the city build a new 18-hole golf course and look into the possibility of selling the present one.

Sweeney argued in his taxpayer's suit that the city charter forbids the sale, as planned, and that if the golf course is sold there would be "loss and damage" to all citizens of the community.

Preacher Practices What He Preaches--Brotherhood

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Rev. Ashton Jones decided 22 years ago to practice what he was preaching — brotherhood among races — and has been doing it ever since "without purse and without script."

Since leaving his rural Georgia home he has traveled 400,000 miles and visited 19 foreign countries with his wife. He relies on brotherhood for his material wants.

The only cash he receives is from collections in churches where he appears as guest.

"It never comes to more than $25 a week and with no money I don't have any financial worries," he said today while visiting here. He doesn't pay any income taxes and wouldn't "even if I were a millionaire."

Taxes are one of the "customs" he has discarded because he feels they contribute to manufacture of weapons of war.

"I have tried to live without observing any custom or convention that violated, according to my conscience, the fatherhood of God or the brotherhood of man."

Other customs he discarded include the color line and political alignments. He lives with both white and Negro on his travels. His Baltimore host is a member of the Governor's Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations.

The Rev. Jones was 35 years old when he "determined to see what would happen to me if I began to live as I had been teaching."

Melnicove May Have To Take His Fight To Senate

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Bernard S. Melnicove was told in effect today he will have to take any contest of the seat he apparently lost to the State Senate itself in January.

Charles A. Dorsey, president of the Baltimore Board of Supervisors of Election, rejected Melnicove's attempt to have it held up certification of Harry A. Cole, Republican Negro, as the winner of the Senate seat in the Fourth District.

Melnicove apparently had won reelection on the basis of unofficial returns from the home district of Democratic boss Jack Pollack.

But the election supervisors in their official canvass found a difference between the tally sheets and the voting machines which gave Cole a margin of 50 votes.

Near his body was a note saying: "Letter to Mother and Salmans (the police chief) in the mail."

It also mentioned the "legion" and listed names and information about gambling winnings and losses of those named, the chief said.

Man Kills Wife, Self, Children

SALINA, Kan., Nov. 12 (AP)—Police today got a letter from an unemployed truck driver asking them, "Please stop that wicked and crooked poker game."

They had been expecting the letter. A few hours earlier, the writer, Roy Henry, 36, had been found shot to death together with his wife and three small children. Henry R. Salmans, chief of police, said Henry apparently had shot his entire family and then committed suicide.

The bodies of the couple's children—Ronnie, 6; Scott Thomas, 4; and Mary Lynne, 3—were found dead in their beds. Mrs. Henry's body was found in a hallway. Henry was lying on a 22 caliber pistol with eight spent shells. He had bought the gun yesterday.

Near his body was a note saying: "Letter to Mother and Salmans (the police chief) in the mail."

Catholics In Indochina Can't Escape Red Yoke

PARIS, Nov. 12 (AP)—Thousands of Catholics in Northern Indochina appeared doomed to stay under Red control today because of Communist insistence that French ships observe a three-mile limit in Vietnamese territorial waters.

The French accused the Vietnamese regime in Northern Indochina of violating the Geneva armistice agreement by refusing to allow anti-Communist Vietnamese to move to Southern Viet Nam. But the French admitted little could be done for the 20,000 to 40,000 Roman Catholics in the North trying to get away from Communist domination.

The French have moved several thousand Catholics from the area around Phat Diem and Buai Chu. About 1,800 arrived in Saigon today aboard the carrier Bois Bel-leau Wood. The French have saved 4,000 refugees who were in danger of drowning on a small island at the mouth of the Tha Ly River.

A French spokesman here confirmed that French ships and planes had been instructed to observe Vietnamese territorial rights. Ships have been instructed to remain outside the three-mile limit of Vietnamese shores, thus bowing to a Vietnamese protest the French were entering the waters illegally to take out the Catholic refugees.

"We had no choice," the spokesman said. "It is in the Geneva agreement. But the agreement also says that the new population of Viet Nam is free to choose to live either north or south of the 17th parallel division line."

FBI To Investigate Alleged Vote Bribes

Charles County Residents Paid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell said today the FBI is investigating published reports that certain residents of Charles County, Md., received money from Republican politicians after voting in the Nov. 2 general election.

The Washington Post and Times Herald said in a copyrighted story today that it had received eight statements—six of them sworn—that voters in that county had received cash after casting their votes.

Three voters swore, the story said, that State Sen. James B. Monroe was the man who gave them money. Monroe, the incumbent, won the election by 82 votes out of more than 7,000 cast.

Brownell's announcement noted that the U.S. criminal code provides fines up to $10,000 or two years imprisonment, or both, for either offering or accepting a payment to influence a vote in the election of a federal official.

The federal law applies only to such officials.

A congressional contest was involved in the Charles County election, as well as state and county races. Charles is part of the 5th Maryland District where Democrat

Richard Lanford beat Rep. Small (R-Md.).

Monroe has not been available for comment on the Post and Times Herald story. Associates said he was away from Waldorf, Md., his home.

The story was accompanied by a picture of a group of persons standing between two autos. The newspaper said one of the affidavits described the scene as depicting the transfer of money from Monroe to a woman voter.

Other Republicans alleged to have given voters money on election day were not named in the story, which said the affidavits described sums of $1 and $2 being given to various registered Republican voters after they cast ballots at the White Plains polling place near Waldorf.

Maryland Atty. Gen. Rollins and States Atty. Robert T. Barbour of Charles County said the Post and Times Herald had given them photostats of various statements alleging election irregularities.

Rollins said last night that any action would have to be initiated on the county level. Barbour said he would make a preliminary investigation before determining what—if anything—he eventually would do with the material.

Democrat Walter W. Bowling Sr., lost to Monroe, said he was considering contesting the election.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Leslie H. Peard Jr., of station WBAL, Baltimore, today was elected president of the Maryland-District of Columbia Radio and Television Broadcasters Assn. as station representatives gathered here to discuss sale of news programs.

M'Keldin Chides Army Engineers In Fla. Speech

BOCA RATON, Fla., Nov. 12 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin told southern governors today how Maryland helped combat a move to pollute Chesapeake Bay and he took Army Engineers to task for rejecting state recommendations in dam building.

In remarks prepared for a discussion on water conservation and development, McKeldin told the southern governors conference that Chesapeake Bay marine life had been threatened by a plan of the federal Department of the Interior. He called it "a grandiose plan to run a tunnel from the anthracite coal mines up around Scranton and Wilkes Barre, Pa., down into the (Susquehanna) River near the head of the bay."

"I immediately called our mining officials, water authorities, tidewater fisheries specialists, conservation officials and others into a meeting in my office," he said.

"We lined up all the possible damage that such pollution might cause... well armed with the facts, a committee of our group went to Washington and to high authorities there. We left, after considerable discussion, with assurance that the dream would be dropped and no such drainage tunnel would be built into Maryland waters."

McKeldin then told of plans of the Corps of Engineers to build a new dam on the Potomac River at Little Falls, Md., to provide an additional water supply for the District of Columbia and its environs.

"We have no objection to providing water from the Potomac for the people of Washington, but we don't want our fisheries on the river permanently destroyed," he said.

He said an old dam at Little Falls would be left standing just below the new dam.

McKeldin said engineers were asked to make fish ladders on both the old and the new dams but "so far our recommendations have been rejected, although I am confident that we made a good case with convincing reasons."

"In this particular case, Virginia fishermen as well as Maryland fishermen are affected," he said.

Preacher Practices What He Preaches--Brotherhood

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Rev. Ashton Jones decided 22 years ago to practice what he was preaching—brotherhood among races—and has been doing it ever since "without purse and without script."

Since leaving his rural Georgia home he has traveled 400,000 miles and visited 19 foreign countries with his wife. He relies on brotherhood for his material wants.

The only cash he receives is from collections in churches where he appears as guest.

"It never comes to more than $25 a week and with no money I don't have any financial worries," he said today while visiting here. He doesn't pay any income taxes and wouldn't "even if I were a millionaire."

Taxes are one of the "customs" he has discarded because he feels they contribute to manufacture of weapons of war.

"I have tried to live without observing any custom or convention that violated, according to my conscience, the fatherhood of God or the brotherhood of man."

Other customs he discarded include the color line and political alignments. He lives with both white and Negro on his travels. His Baltimore host is a member of the Governor's Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations.

The Rev. Jones was 35 years old when he "determined to see what would happen to me if I began to live as I had been teaching."

He was born in Butler, Ga., studied at Emory University in Atlanta and was pastor of several small churches.

Seeks To Stop Golf Course Sale

HAGERSTOWN, Nov. 21 (AP)—Former Mayor Richard H. Sweeney today asked the Washington County Circuit Court to stop the sale of the nine-hole municipal golf course at public auction.

Sweeney argued in his taxpayer's suit that the city charter forbids the sale, as planned, and that the golf course is sold there would be "loss and damage" to all citizens of the community.

A special study committee had recommended that the city build a new 18-hole golf course and look into the possibility of selling the present one.

Some Catholics Resist Segregation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest working on interracial problems in the South acknowledged today that "some Catholics are resisting integration in parochial schools on the ground that the Supreme Court decision applies only to public schools."

"I daresay that in some places that would be a display of resistance if integration in public schools were ordered tomorrow," said the Very Rev. Maurice Shean of Rock Hill, S. C. "But in other places there would be no trouble. We have encountered no great difficulty anywhere integration has been tried so far."

Melnicove May Have To Take His Fight To Senate

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Bernard S. Melnicove was told in effect today he will have to take any contest of the seat he apparently lost to the State Senate itself in January.

Charles A. Dorsey, president of the Baltimore Board of Supervisors of Election, rejected Melnicove's attempt to have it hold up certification of Harry A. Cole, Republican Negro, as the winner of the Senate seat in the Fourth District.

Melnicove apparently had won reelection on the basis of unofficial returns from the home district of Democratic boss Jack Pollack.

But the election supervisors in their official canvass found a difference between the tally sheets and the voting machines which gave Cole a margin of 50 votes.

Woman Killed In Train Wreck

NASHUA, N.H., Nov. 12 (AP)—A crash Montreal-Boston express derailed, overturned and smashed into a mass of wreckage at dawn today in the Union Railroad Station yard here.

One passenger was killed, 21 others injured. It was the first fatality to a passenger on the road since 1918.

Cause of the wreck was not immediately determined.

A Boston and Maine Railroad spokesman said the train approached the station—where it was scheduled to stop—"at excessive speed."

He said brake failure or the speed could have caused the accident.

The train was the Red Wing, made up of eight cars and a double unit Diesel engine.

Only the foremost of the engine units and a Pullman club car at the rear end of the train remained upright.

The others overturned and demolished the tracks as they skidded to a halt.

The baggage-mail car landed on its roof. Other cars smashed into freight cars standing on a siding, wrecking two of them, and ripping through the concrete and masonry wall of an adjoining building.

The trucks under several cars tore loose and smashed through the wall of a freight shed, coming to scattered rest in the railroad yard.

The dead woman was Mrs. Mary Buckley, 30, of Manchester, N.H.

Livestock Show To Open Today

TIMONIUM, Md., Nov. 12 (AP)—Cattle from 23 states have been entered in the Eastern National Livestock Show which opens tomorrow at the State Fair Grounds here.

Richard C. Riggs, the show president, said 1,914 head of livestock will compete for the $50,000 in cash prizes to be awarded during the exhibition.

thought a man loses any of his rights of free speech when he is elected to the Senate.

"Of course not," Stennis replied, adding that a senator gains certain privileges—such as immunity in anything he says on the Senate floor. But with those privileges, Stennis said, goes a "serious obligation" not to abuse them.

Stennis was the first member of the Senate committee to come out uncompromisingly in favor of an official rebuke for McCarthy. The group's chairman, Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), has said he will avoid the role of "prosecutor." Another member, Sen. Case (R-SD), has proposed dropping the censure charges, in effect, if McCarthy will withdraw his attacks on the 1952 Gillette committee and its members—something McCarthy has declined to do.

Man Kills Wife, Self, Children

SALINA, Kan., Nov. 12 (AP)—Police today got a letter from an unemployed truck driver asking them, "Please stop that wicked and crooked poker game."

They had been expecting the letter. A few hours earlier, the writer, Roy Henry, 36, had been found shot to death together with his wife and three small children. Henry R. Salmons, chief of police, said Henry apparently had shot his entire family and then committed suicide.

The bodies of the couple's children—Ronnie, 6; Scott Thomas, 4; and Mary Lynne, 3—were found dead in their beds. Mrs. Henry's body was found in a hallway. Henry was lying on a 22 caliber pistol with eight spent shells. He had bought the gun yesterday.

Near his body was a note saying: "Letter to Mother and Salmons (the police chief) in the mail."

Salmons said the letter asked him to investigate gambling in Salina. "Those thieves have robbed me out of several thousand dollars, so chief please stop that crooked and wicked poker game."

It also mentioned the "legion" and listed names and information about gambling winnings and losses of those named, the chief said.

The letter ended with, "I trust this is the information you desire. Good luck." It was opened in the presence of the county attorney and his assistant.

Grand Jury Refuses To Indict Doctor

BARSTOW, Fla., Nov. 12 (AP)—The Polk County grand jury refused today to indict Dr. Dodge D. Mentzer on a charge of first degree murder for the killing of Billy Leigh, amateur golf star and University of Florida law student.

Today's action means the prominent 40-year-old Lakeland doctor cannot be tried on a first degree murder charge. However, the way is open for County Solicitor Clifton M. Kelly to file a direct information of second degree murder or manslaughter against him. Kelly had no comment when asked if he planned to take this step.

million dollars worth of new school buildings in the next five years and for higher salaries for teachers, plus more liberal retirement benefits.

The convention closed tonight with the annual Fellowship Dinner at which Dr. Margaret Mead, ethnology curator at the American Museum of Natural History in New York, was the main speaker.

Also on the program were Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, new president of the University of Maryland, B. Melvin Cole, president of the Maryland State Teachers' Association, and Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools.

Catholics In Indochina Can't Escape Red Yoke

PARIS, Nov. 12 (AP)—Thousands of Catholics in Northern Indochina appeared doomed to stay under Red control today because of Communist insistence that French ships observe a three-mile limit in Vietnamese territorial waters.

The French accused the Vietnamese regime in Northern Indochina of violating the Geneva armistice agreement by refusing to allow anti-Communist Vietnamese to move to Southern Viet Nam. But the French admitted little could be done for the 20,000 to 40,000 Roman Catholics in the North trying to get away from Communist domination.

The French have moved several thousand Catholics from the area around Phat Diem and Bui Chu. About 1,800 arrived in Saigon today aboard the carrier Bois Belleau Wood. The French have saved 4,000 refugees who were in danger of drowning on a small island at the mouth of the Tha Ly River.

A French spokesman here confirmed that French ships and planes had been instructed to observe Vietnamese territorial rights. Ships have been instructed to remain outside the three-mile limit of Vietnamese shores, thus bowing to a Vietnamese protest the French were entering the waters illegally to take out the Catholic refugees.

"We had no choice," the spokesman said. "It is in the Geneva agreement. But the agreement also says that the new population of Viet Nam is free to choose to live either north or south of the 17th parallel division line."

Gen. Pierre de Broission, head of the French delegation to the international armistice commission in the North, has been instructed to protest what the French say is a violation of the armistice terms signed last July in Geneva. India, Poland and Canada are on the commission.

But French officials did not express any hope the commission can force the Vietnamese to allow anti-Communists to leave. With the new orders to French naval craft, the only refugees who can get away are those who can manage to reach the three-mile limit in small craft.

Many Incomplete Ballots Cast In Recent Election

Many of the 27,926 people who went to the polls on November 2 did not vote for governor.

In fact, the official canvass of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors showed that 904 persons did not vote for either Gov. McKeldin or Dr. Harry C. Byrd or the ballots were not counted for some reason.

When it came to the amendments, the voters practically ignored them. The one receiving the most total votes was for the increase in the governor's salary.

Only one third or 9,091 citizens bothered to cast their votes on this issue. There were 4,420 for and 4,671 against.

Of the major candidates, the office receiving the fewest votes was for attorney general. There were 13,524 for Edward D. E. Rollins and 11,631 for C. Ferdinand Sybert. That meant that 1,771 citizens overlooked this important office.

For Congress, with an Allegany County man running, 1,234 of those who went to the polls failed to cast their votes for this office. Edward J. Ryan of Frostburg received 14,986 votes and DeWitt S. Hyde of Bethesda, 11,706, for a total participation of 26,692. In the race for State Senate, 1,366 voters did not bother to mark their Xs. Of a total of 26,560, there were 14,487 who voted for Robert B. Kimble and 12,073 for William L. Wilson Jr.

Sheriff candidates received 26,229 votes, with 15,341 for Edward R. Muir and 10,888 for Graydon S. Dunlap, which left 1,697 not voting.

Many Incomplete Ballots Cast In Recent Election

Many of the 27,926 people who went to the polls on November 2 did not vote for governor.

In fact, the official canvass of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors showed that 904 persons did not vote for either Gov. McKeldin or Dr. Harry C. Byrd or the ballots were not counted for some reason.

When it came to the amendments, the voters practically ignored them. The one receiving the most total votes was for the increase in the governor's salary.

Only one third or 9,091 citizens bothered to cast their votes on this issue. There were 4,420 for and 4,671 against.

Of the major candidates, the office receiving the fewest votes was for attorney general. There were 13,524 for Edward D. E. Rollins and 11,631 for C. Ferdinand Sybert. That meant that 1,771 citizens overlooked this important office.

For Congress, with an Allegany County man running, 1,234 of those who went to the polls failed to cast their votes for this office. Edward J. Ryan of Frostburg received 14,986 votes and DeWitt S. Hyde of Bethesda, 11,706, for a total participation of 26,692.

In the race for State Senate, 1,366 voters did not bother to mark their Xs. Of a total of 26,560, there were 14,487 who voted for Robert B. Kimble and 12,073 for William L. Wilson Jr.

Sheriff candidates received 26,229 votes, with 15,341 for Edward R. Muir and 10,888 for Graydon S. Dunlap, which left 1,697 not voting.

State Tax Rate Is Set At 11 Cents

The state tax rate for 1955 on real and personal property will be 11 cents on each $100 of assessable basis, according to information received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from the state comptroller's office.

The tax rate information was sent here so that the commissioners can consider it when the next tax levy bills are made up next year.

The board also received notice from the state comptroller's office that Allegany County will be eligible for $144,000 in highway construction funds under the state bond issue program for the year starting July 1, 1955.

This money can be used for building new roads or reconstructing old roads. Allegany County participated in the program this year and received $150,000 from the road bond issue. Garrett County is eligible for $214,000 from the bond issue and Washington County can obtain $188,000 if it so desires. The commissioners said they will fill out the required application forms for this county. The money is repaid over a 15-year period at a low rate of interest. The state plans to issue $3,612,000 in road bonds to take care of the counties' requests during the next fiscal year.

Purchase of an electric adding machine for the commissioners' office was authorized yesterday. The machine will be bought from the Ankeny Company for $274.50.

Six Allegany High School students who have a musical group known as the Dixiecats Thursday night won first prize in the finals of a talent contest sponsored by the Southern States Cooperative.

The event was held in Richmond, Va., with 18 units from nine regional competitions taking part. By winning the Richmond finals the Dixiecats have won an all-expense trip to New York City where they will appear on the Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour on television.

Comprising the Dixiecats are Ray Vernal, David Berry and Donald Scaletta, this city; John Ritchie and Richard Ayers, RD 6, city; and Kenneth McKinney, of Cresaptown.

The local musical group won its way into the finals by taking second place at the regional contest held in Winchester, Va., several weeks ago. Dayton Bishop, of Kingwood, W. Va., won first place in the regional competition.

Local Firm Wins Canadian Patent

The receipt of a Canadian patent within the past week increases to four the number of foreign patents issued to John A. Cuper of LaVale on the Vee Drilling Machine manufactured in Cumberland by the National Jet Company.

Since issuance of the United States patent on the drilling machine capable of boring holes of microscopic size, patent protection has been sought and granted in leading industrial countries. These have been obtained in Great Britain, Sweden and Switzerland.

Police said the alleged violation occurred last month.

State Tax Rate Is Set At 11 Cents

The state tax rate for 1955 on real and personal property will be 11 cents on each $100 of assessable basis, according to information received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from the state comptroller's office.

The tax rate information was sent here so that the commissioners can consider it when the next tax levy bills are made up next year.

The board also received notice from the state comptroller's office that Allegany County will be eligible for $144,000 in highway construction funds under the state bond issue program for the year starting July 1, 1955.

This money can be used for building new roads or reconstructing old roads. Allegany County participated in the program this year and received $150,000 from the road bond issue. Garrett County is eligible for $214,000 from the bond issue and Washington County can obtain $188,000 if it so desires bonds to take care of the counties' requests during the next fiscal year.

Purchase of an electric adding machine for the commissioners' office was authorized yesterday. The machine will be bought from the Ankeney Company for $274.50. Baltimore.

Voting Machines One Step Nearer

It appears very possible now that Allegany County will have the benefit of voting machines within the next four years.

The state's Legislative Council, a select group of members of the General Assembly including Senator Robert B. Kimble of our county, will introduce a measure making voting machines mandatory throughout the state.

We are fully in accord with this move but we have two faults to find with what is proposed.

First, the Legislative Council says it will submit the bill without recommendation. Second, the mandatory voting machine provision would not compel use of the machines until the 1958 elections.

Ordinarily, matters recommended by the Legislative Council to the General Assembly become law. We hope the council members will see fit before the General Assembly convenes in January to add their recommendation to the proposal.

We agree with their comment that the voting machine provision, along with other revisions of the voting laws, needs wide discussion but we do not believe a recommendation of passage would prevent that. It should not.

Certainly one of the matters to be considered in connection with voting machines is the cost and method of financing. We believe the best way to do this would be for the state to sell bonds and then allow the counties to borrow the funds they require. The counties in turn would repay the state on an installment basis over a period of years. On this basis, nobody would get hurt financially. Allegany County, for example, might even make some money with the machines by renting them to the City of Cumberland for its elections.

So far as the time is concerned when voting machines would become mandatory, we believe the purpose would be served better if the use of voting machines was mandatory in time for the presidential elections of 1956. At that time we will elect a president, U. S. senator and congressman. This would be a small ballot, it is true, but what better time to give the new devices a try and get the feel of them.

We do not intend this writing to be of a complaining nature. In fact, we feel deeply gratified that the Legislative Council, profiting from the sad experience of the primary and general elections of this year, has seen fit to prepare legislation paving the way for voting machines. Our question is, Why wait? Let's get on with what we inevitably will have some day anyway.

Our county representatives in the General Assembly and our county commissioners and election supervisors should throw their support and influence to the prompt passage of this legislation with the view to have voting machines in operation here by the primary election of 1956.

Unilateral Free Trade

The most active advocates of free trade for the United States fail to explain that they would limit the abolition of tariff barriers and other customs procedures only to the United States. They do not object to other nations setting up tariff barriers against the United States. In a word, they advocate unilateral free trade.

If the only impediment to the free movement of goods were the American tariff, it would be possible to say, "Off with his head!" and the complex, universal problems arising out of two wars and a prolonged worldwide depression, to say nothing of vast social changes, would be solved in a jiffy. Unfortunately, this is not the case and the American tariff is probably the least significant disturbing factor.

O. Glenn Saxon, of Yale University, put it this way: "... Total, unilateral, and immediate elimination of all United States tariffs would accomplish little in our efforts to stabilize international trade relations in the Western world or restore its economic balance on a multilateral basis. So long as international trade, financial, and monetary relations are dominated by socialistic theories of managed currencies, compensatory spending, unbalanced budgets, monetization of public debts, competitive currency devaluations, arbitrary and discriminatory exchange controls, inconvertibility of currencies, artificially maintained exchange rates among national currencies, discriminatory export and import quotas, discriminatory export and import duties, governmental fixation of minimum (monopolistic) prices on exports of major international staples, and state-trading, as well as state-financing by nations of the Western world, it is utterly unrealistic to discuss tariff reductions by, or unilateral free trade for, the United States as a material factor in correction of current instabilities and imbalances in the Western world ..."

This, it would seem to me, is a correct statement of the case. At the London Economic Conference in 1933, it was precisely such problems that might have been solved in the period of world-wide despair, but Mr. Roosevelt torpedoed that conference, so far as we know on the advice of Henry Morgenthau. This conference could have done much to save the remainders of the capitalist economy of Europe early enough to have made a difference.

To a degree, this has been compensated by the inflated expansion of the American productive machine during the war years and immediately after to meet the needs of Europe-at-war and the period of reconstruction immediately after the war. An example is American steel capacity: 1938-80,185,638 net tons, 1945-95,505,280 net tons, 1954-124,330,410 net tons.

The major industries of the United States followed this pattern and several new ones rose to primary positions, such as the atomic energy industry, the plastics industry, the lighter metals industry, etc. During the years of European reconstruction, these American industries did very well, overcoming the dangers of a depression resulting from readjustments to peace.

However, the Europeans, particularly the British, entered upon a campaign to accomplish two purposes: 1. To reduce or even obliterate the American tariff and customs procedures; 2. To promote East-West trade.

McCarthy Controversy Loses Votes For Republicans

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The Senate may vote to censure Senator McCarthy, but it cannot possibly rub out the millions of voters in his following. This presents a political problem for the Republican party in 1956 and may cost it control of the White House, as well as Congress, next time unless the wounds in the party are healed.

For the facts are that Clifford Case, who made an issue of McCarthy in New Jersey, now appears to have been elected senator by a plurality of less than 4,000 votes. He failed to win a majority of the votes cast in last week's election. Approximately 26,000 votes were cast for two independent candidates sympathetic to McCarthy and, if these votes had been swung to the Democratic nominee, he would have won overwhelmingly. That's not a healthy situation for the Republicans to contemplate for 1956.

In New York State Senator Ives, Republican, lost the governorship to Averell Harriman by less than 15,000 votes but there are reliable estimates that somewhere between 200,000 and 300,000 Republicans deliberately refused to go to the polls on account of Ives' stand on the McCarthy censure issue.

Postcard Campaign
These estimates come from Republican officials in New York State who are in a position to know what happened when the registration totals are compared with the actual vote.

Also, Ives two years ago got more than 1,300,000 Republican majority, which was more than President Eisenhower received. There is no evidence that in the last two years he has lost his personal popularity. Hence political observers from New York are writing in to say that Ives was the victim of the McCarthy controversy. In the last three weeks of his campaign, it is estimated that 250,000 post cards were sent to Ives by New York State voters saying that he would not receive the votes of the sender of the post card unless he declared himself as favorable to McCarthy.

Reports are coming in from Iowa that Senator Gillette, Democrat, who once headed the Senate Subcommittee on Privileges and Elections which initiated the investigation of Senator McCarthy, was hurt politically in the last few days of the campaign by an open letter from the Wisconsin senator. One charge made by the Wisconsin senator was that the subcommittee, when Mr. Gillette was chairman, had asked the postmaster in Washington to place upon the mail to Senator McCarthy and his wife what is known as a "mail cover"—a form of surveillance of personal mail used, it is said, under existing law only when fugitives from justice are involved.

A reverse twist to the McCarthy issue occurred in Illinois, where anti-McCarthy Republicans voted for Senator Douglas, Democrat, rather than for Joseph Meek, the Republican nominee. Charges are

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Soon as we separate the whiskers from the feathers we'll give you a run-down on 1954 elections. The contest was closer than hammer-toes.

If it was an installment on 1956 we had better take a lease on a break-away apartment in Yucca Flats.

If it gets any hotter than this one they will be voting wax dummies in Hades. We have been covering campaigns and conventions for 40 years. This one was for the marbles.

If you followed President Eisenhower's speeches he seemed to be tipping his mitt for 1956. He didn't come right out in the open like one of Minsky's striptease dancers. But the general shrill of his talks was he wouldn't run next time.

We all know that Cincinnatus left his plow but we have no record of him getting back to it. He probably found the hired man asleep at the switch. In more than one speech he said he was going back to his ant ranch in Pennsylvania.

The old beach-header has sure served his country right up to the hilt on a sword-swallower's meal. We claim he is more entitled to a rest than a merry-go-round callopie.

We don't know what the GOP will do without Ike in 1956. He carried the works like a man living in the suburbs. Everybody in the family rode on dad's commutation ticket.

This will not be a time when you can chase the wolf from the door by giving him a look through the keyhole. The nation is in such good shape that even the polls are guessing right.

Without Ike's personal popularity in 1956 the GOP is going to have a future like a taxidermist's pet. We rate him as the greatest military figure of all time. Inside of two semesters Ike became a good politician. When Ike has a handful of pins it's your own fault for getting between him and a war map.

There is a tide in the affairs of men that will sweep you to victory or flood your cellar. If there's more flotsam than jetsam it's still a tie.

Good Eating Is Fine But Avoid Fat From Overeating

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Americans are not plagued by food shortages but are we deriving maximum benefits from our horn of plenty? Some of our foods have been altered from their natural state through bleaching, discoloration, and refining processes.

On the other hand, we have so great a variety, most of us can obtain all the needed vitamins, minerals, and other food elements. In addition, vitamins or minerals are added as supplements when necessary.

The improvement in appearance whets the appetite, which improves digestion, and processed food is easier to handle and store. There, we cannot honestly condemn these methods of food production so long as the manufacturers maintain quality and high standards of sanitation.

We also must rely upon the integrity of the farmers and hope they will continue to fertilize the soil and replenish mineral losses. This aspect of nutrition is under scientific scrutiny at present and more reliable information along this line ought to be available in the future.

The healthful aspects of food are better known than the harmful effects. The paraphrased adage, "One man's food is another man's poison," refers particularly to allergy but could apply also to overeating. Obesity decreases life expectancy and encourages circulatory disorders. This is the basis for the statement that overnutrition kills more persons than does under-nutrition.

The average fatty is handicapped in many ways by his bulk. Shortness of breath and panting on slight exertion are common manifestations. Many suffer from flat feet or arthritis of the knees or lower back. Corpulency reduces agility, which is a factor in the higher accident rate in this group. In nature, the fatter birds and animals encounter a similar fate because they find it difficult to hide and are easier to catch.

Each additional pound means more work for the heart because miles of new blood vessels must form to supply the demand for additional blood. Hypertension and circulatory disorders are more prevalent in this group. Cholesterol frequently is blamed for hardening of the arteries. There is some difference of opinion on the subject, consequently the relationship cannot be accepted as gospel truth. Arteriosclerosis can be hastened in certain animals by feeding large amounts of cholesterol. If it can be proved that man responds in the same way, our nu-

Secretary Of State Dulles Is Taken To Task Over Errors Of Judgment

WASHINGTON—Last week, John Foster Dulles called in John Paton Davies, long-time career diplomat, and fired him for bad judgment. Davies' loyalty was not questioned, only his judgment regarding the advice he gave 10 years ago that Chiang Kai-shek should form a coalition government with the Chinese Communists.

In contrast, here are some statements made by the man who fired Davies, also dating back some years:

Dulles on World War II—Speaking in Detroit in 1939, Dulles said: "Only hysteria entertains the idea that Germany, Italy, or Japan contemplates war upon us." (This was after Germany had already taken Austria and Czechoslovakia and just four months before Hitler precipitated World War II.)

Dulles on Hiss: On December 23, 1946, Lawrence Davidson, Detroit attorney, wrote Dulles, then chairman of the Carnegie Institute that Alger Hiss has a provable Communist record." Dulles hired Hiss as president of the Carnegie Institute anyway.

Arms to Germany—Dulles in 1926 advocated "unrestricted trade in arms and military supplies and the right of American bankers to make loans for military purposes." (This was when the State Department was trying to curtail loans to Germany and other countries for military purposes.)

German Bonds—In 1930 Dulles stated: "Germany made great progress under the Dawes plan. Her national income ... government income have grown to a point where the reparations charge constitutes a readily bearable percentage." (This was when Dulles was attorney for the American bankers floating loans to the American public. One year later these loans collapsed completely. American bondholders have not yet collected.)

Foreign Aid—In January 1953, Dulles warned France to sign EDC by April 1 or the United States would cut off aid. "The hand-out era is over," Dulles warned publicly. France has not yet ratified EDC, and aid to France is still continuing.

Massive Retaliation—On January 12, 1954, Dulles announced that the United States was prepared to meet aggression with instant retaliation "by means and places of our own choosing." We would "depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate instantly," he said. Since then Communist China has taken over the main portions of Indochina and poured more arms into North Korea.

Unrest Behind Curtain—On August 27, 1952, speaking at Buffalo, Dulles promised that Eisenhower would "encourage quiet revolution in Red-dominated countries." In January 1953 he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the U.S.A. must use "moral pressure and the weight of propaganda" to weaken Soviet satellites. But on September 18, 1953, he told the U. N. General Assembly: "Our creed does not call for exporting revolution and exciting others to violence."

Geneva Conference—At the conclusion of the Berlin Conference last winter, Dulles announced that the problems unsolved at Berlin would be taken up at the Geneva Conference which he called "the best hope of the world." The Geneva Conference ended in complete failure and complete capitulation to Russia in Indochina.

American Legion Promises — Addressing the Legion in St. Louis, September 2, 1953, Dulles said: "There is a risk that as in Korea, Red China might send its own army into Indochina. The Chinese regime should realize that such a second aggression could not be confined to Indochina." This threat of U. S. intervention apparently meant little. At least the Red Chinese sized it up that way and went right ahead in Indochina.

What's more, he has a chip-off-the-block son, Charles R. Hook Jr., who has been doing a great job as deputy postmaster general. Young Hook, a pipe-smoking, 40-year-old Yale man, has the same dedicated approach to public service as his famous father.

He gave up a higher salary as vice president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway to accept the Post Office job in January 1953, but has no regrets.

"It makes my face red to think of how little I knew about government service at the time," Hook admits with a grin. "However if there were any misgivings in my own mind when the offer came, my dad had other ideas. He advised me to take the job."

"I've learned a lot in two years. One thing I've learned is that government officials are not all politicians, as many businessmen seem to think. at him manfully and tried to dice him. Cooler heads and stronger biceps intervened.

The mayor had a nervous breakdown as a result of the case. On the stand he was a man completely incapable of answering a direct question instantly. For example, John Mahon, the tender-voiced prosecutor, asked him if he had joined with Sam and Marilyn Sheppard in social functions in the past. Mayor Houk must have thought a full minute (which is a long time in court) before he answered, "What do you mean, 'social functions'?" Another time he pondered so long over a question, roughly comparable to "What is today?" that he asked to have it repeated.

A Fine Woman

Mrs. Houk, the poor soul, testified most of the time with her eyes closed. When they opened she gave the ceiling or walls of Judge Blythin's hand-ball-sized courtroom a vacantly piercing stare. It fell this gentle woman's lot in life to be the first (except the murderer) to look upon the horrifying pulp of Marilyn Sheppard's head and then to face the burden of having her husband named as one who had secretly loved the dead woman.

It became her chore, too, to spirit the little Sheppard boy out of the house on the morning of the murder. Mrs. Houk must be a fine woman. She saw to it that the door of the lad's mother's room was closed before she led the little boy past it. She arranged for his Uncle Richard to awaken him, so he would not be startled. When she got the child to the yard and he asked her about the ambulance parked there (waiting for Marilyn's body) she explained that Dr. Sam had had a small accident resulting in a bump on the head. Dr. Sam, at the moment, was being shot out of a cannon, more or less. He was being catapulted off by Dr. Steve. As of this point in the testimony nobody has quoted him as saying, "Bring Chip."

But, as I said earlier, the trial is young. However, many of its principals (and Boswells) have aged. And the people nearest it will never be the same again.

Voting Machines One Step Nearer

It appears very possible now that Allegany County will have the benefit of voting machines within the next four years.

The state's Legislative Council, a select group of members of the General Assembly including Senator Robert B. Kimble of our county, will introduce a measure making voting machines mandatory throughout the state.

We are fully in accord with this move but we have two faults to find with what is proposed.

First, the Legislative Council says it will submit the bill without recommendation. Second, the mandatory voting machine provision would not compel use of the machines until the 1958 elections.

Ordinarily, matters recommended by the Legislative Council to the General Assembly become law. We hope the council members will see fit before the General Assembly convenes in January to add their recommendation to the proposal.

We agree with their comment that the voting machine provision, along with other revisions of the voting laws, needs wide discussion but we do not believe a recommendation of passage would prevent that. It should not.

Certainly one of the matters to be considered in connection with voting machines is the cost and method of financing. We believe the best way to do this would be for the state to sell bonds and then allow the counties to borrow the funds they require. The counties in turn would repay the state on an installment basis over a period of years. On this basis, nobody would get hurt financially. Allegany County, for example, might even make some money with the machines by renting them to the City of Cumberland for its elections.

So far as the time is concerned when voting machines would become mandatory, we believe the purpose would be served better if the use of voting machines was mandatory in time for the presidential elections of 1956. At that time we will elect a president, U. S. senator and congressman. This would be a small ballot, it is true, but what better time to give the new devices a try and get the feel of them.

We do not intend this writing to be of a complaining nature. In fact, we feel deeply gratified that the Legislative Council, profiting from the sad experience of the primary and general elections of this year, has seen fit to prepare legislation paving the way for voting machines. Our question is, Why wait? Let's get on with what we inevitably will have some day anyway.

Our county representatives in the General Assembly and our county commissioners and election supervisors should throw their support and influence to the prompt passage of this legislation with the view to have voting machines in operation here by the primary election of 1956.

Unilateral Free Trade

The most active advocates of free trade for the United States fail to explain that they would limit the abolition of tariff barriers and other customs procedures only to the United States. They do not object to other nations setting up tariff barriers against the United States. In a word, they advocate unilateral free trade.

If the only impediment to the free movement of goods were the American tariff, it would be possible to say, "Off with his head!" and the complex, universal problems arising out of two wars and a prolonged worldwide depression, to say nothing of vast social changes, would be solved in a jiffy. Unfortunately, this is not the case and the American tariff is probably the least significant disturbing factor.

O. Glenn Saxon, of Yale University, put it this way: "... Total, unilateral, and immediate elimination of all United States tariffs would accomplish little in our efforts to stabilize international trade relations in the Western world or restore its economic balance on a multilateral basis. So long as international trade, financial, and monetary relations are dominated by socialistic theories of managed currencies, compensatory spending, unbalanced budgets, monetization of public debts, competitive currency devaluations, arbitrary and discriminatory exchange controls, inconvertibility of currencies, artificially maintained exchange rates among national currencies, discriminatory export and import quotas, discriminatory export and import duties, governmental fixation of minimum (monopolistic) prices on exports of major international staples, and state-trading, as well as state-financing by nations of the Western world, it is utterly unrealistic to discuss tariff reductions by, or unilateral free trade for, the United States as a material factor in correction of current instabilities and imbalances in the Western world."

This, it would seem to me, is a correct statement of the case. At the London Economic Conference in 1933, it was precisely such problems that might have been solved in the period of world-wide despair, but Mr. Roosevelt torpedoed that conference, so far as we know on the advice of Henry Morgenthau. This conference could have done much to save the remnants of the capitalist economy of Europe early enough to have made a difference.

To a degree, this has been complicated by the inflated expansion of the American productive machine during the war years and immediately after to meet the needs of Europe-at-war and the period of reconstruction immediately after the war. An example is American steel capacity: 1938—80,185,638 net tons, 1945—95,505,280 net tons, 1954—124,330,410 net tons.

The major industries of the United States followed this pattern and several new ones rose to primary positions, such as the atomic energy industry, the plastics industry, the lighter metals industry, etc. During the years of European reconstruction, these American industries did very well, overcoming the dangers of a depression resulting from readjustments to peace.

However, when European industries were rebuilt, largely by American aid, the need for markets for their products became immediately pressing. Two areas were open to them in which they could get a desirable return for their products: 1. The American market where they could get dollars as an offset for their unconvertible currency; 2. Soviet Russia where they could get desired raw materials and foodstuffs by barter and gold.

Therefore, the Europeans, particularly the British, entered upon a campaign to accomplish two purposes:

1. To reduce or even obliterate the American tariff and customs procedures;
2. To promote East-West trade.

McCarthy Controversy Loses Votes For Republicans

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The Senate may vote to censure Senator McCarthy, but it cannot possibly rub out the millions of voters in his following. This presents a political problem for the Republican party in 1956 and may cost it control of the White House, as well as Congress, next time unless the wounds in the party are healed.

For the facts are that Clifford Case, who made an issue of McCarthy in New Jersey, now appears to have been elected senator by a plurality of less than 4,000 votes. He failed to win a majority of the votes cast in last week's election. Approximately 26,000 votes were cast for two independent candidates sympathetic to McCarthy and, if these votes had been swung to the Democratic nominee, he would have won overwhelmingly. That's not a healthy situation for the Republicans to contemplate for 1956.

In New York State Senator Ives, Republican, lost the governorship to Averell Harriman by less than 15,000 votes but there are reliable estimates that somewhere between 200,000 and 300,000 Republicans deliberately refused to go to the polls on account of Ives' stand on the McCarthy censure issue.

Postcard Campaign
These estimates come from Republican officials in New York State who are in a position to know what happened when the registration totals are compared with the actual vote.
Also, Ives two years ago got more than 1,300,000 Republican majority, which was more than President Eisenhower received. There is no evidence that in the last two years he has lost his personal popularity. Hence political observers from New York are writing in to say that Ives was the victim of the McCarthy controversy. In the last three weeks of his campaign, it is estimated that 250,000 post cards were sent to Ives by New York State voters saying that he would not receive the votes of the sender of the post card unless he declared himself as favorable to McCarthy.

Reports are coming in from Iowa that Senator Gillette, Democrat, who once headed the Senate Subcommittee on Privileges and Elections which initiated the investigation of Senator McCarthy, was hurt politically in the last few days of the campaign by an open letter from the Wisconsin senator. One charge made by the Wisconsin senator was that the subcommittee, when Mr. Gillette was chairman, had asked the postmaster in Washington to place upon the mail to Senator McCarthy and his wife what is known as a "mail cover"—a form of surveillance of personal mail used, it is said, under existing law only when fugitives from justice are involved.

A reverse twist to the McCarthy issue occurred in Illinois, where anti-McCarthy Republicans voted for Senator Douglas, Democrat, rather than for Joseph Meek, the Republican nominee. Charges are

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Soon as we separate the whiskers from the feathers we'll give you a run-down on 1954 elections. The contest was closer than hammer-toes.

If it was an installment on 1956 we had better take a lease on a break-away apartment in Yucca Flats.

If it gets any hotter than this one they will be voting war dummies in Hades. We have been covering campaigns and conventions for 40 years. This one was for the marbles.

If you followed President Eisenhower's speeches he seemed to be tipping his mitt for 1956. He didn't come right out in the open like one of Minsky's striptease dances. But the general skill of his talks was he wouldn't run next time.

We all know that Cincinnatus left his plow but we have no record of him getting back to it. He probably found the hired man asleep at the switch. In more than one speech he said he was going back to his ranch in Pennsylvania.

The old beach-header has sure served his country right up to the hilt on a sword-swallower's meal. We claim he is more entitled to a rest than a merry-go-round caliope.

We don't know what the GOP will do without Ike in 1956. He carried the works like a man living in the suburbs. Everybody in the family rode on dad's commutation ticket.

This will not be a time when you can chase the wolf from the door by giving him a look through the keyhole. The nation is in such good shape that even the polls are guessing right.

Without Ike's personal popularity in 1956 the GOP is going to have a future like a taxidermist's pet. We rate him as the greatest military figure of all time. Inside of two semesters he became a good politician. When Ike has a handful of pins it's your own fault for getting between him and a war map.

There is a tide in the affairs of men that will sweep you to victory or flood your cellar. If there's more flotsam than jetsam it's still a tie.

Good Eating Is Fine But Avoid Fat From Overeating

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Americans are not plagued by food shortages but are deriving maximum benefits from our horn of plenty? Some of our foods have been altered from their natural state through bleaching, discoloration, and refining processes.

On the other hand, we have so great a variety, most of us can obtain all the needed vitamins, minerals, and other food elements. In addition, vitamins or minerals are added as supplements when necessary.

The improvement in appearance whets the appetite, which improves digestion, and processed food is easier to handle and store. There, we cannot honestly condemn these methods of food production so long as the manufacturers maintain quality and high standards of sanitation.

We also must rely upon the integrity of the farmers and hope they will continue to fertilize the soil and replenish mineral losses. This aspect of nutrition is under scientific scrutiny at present and more reliable information along this line ought to be available in the future.

The healthful aspects of food are better known than the harmful effects. The paraphrased adage, "One man's food is another man's poison" refers particularly to allergy but could apply also to overeating. Obesity decreases life expectancy and encourages circulatory disorders. This is the basis for the statements that overnutrition kills more persons than does undernutrition.

The average fatty is handicapped in many ways by his bulk. Shortness of breath and panting on slight exertion are common manifestations. Many suffer from flat feet or arthritis of the knees or lower back. Corpulency reduces agility, which is a factor in the higher accident rate in this group. In nature, the fatter birds and animals encounter a similar fate because they find it difficult to hide and are easier to catch.

Each additional pound means more work for the heart because miles of new blood vessels must form to supply the demand for additional blood. Hypertension and circulatory disorders are more prevalent in this group.

Cholesterol frequently is blamed for hardening of the arteries. There is some difference of opinion on the subject, consequently the relationship cannot be accepted as gospel truth. Arteriosclerosis can be hastened in certain animals by feeding large amounts of cholesterol. If it can be proved that man responds in the same way, our nu-

Secretary Of State Dulles Is Taken To Task Over Errors Of Judgment

WASHINGTON—Last week, John Foster Dulles called in John Paton Davies, long-time career diplomat, and fired him for bad judgment. Davies' loyalty was not questioned, only his judgment regarding the advice he gave 10 years ago that Chiang Kai-shek should form a coalition government with the Chinese Communists.

In contrast, here are some statements made by the man who fired Davies, also dating back some years:

Dulles on World War II—Speaking in Detroit in 1939, Dulles said: "Only hysteria entertains the idea that Germany, Italy, or Japan contemplates war upon us." (This was after Germany had already taken Austria and Czechoslovakia and just four months before Hitler precipitated World War II.)

Dulles on Hiss: On December 23, 1946, Lawrence Davidow, Detroit attorney, wrote Dulles, then chairman of the Carnegie Institute that Alger Hiss has a provable Communist record." Dulles hired Hiss as president of the Carnegie Institute anyway.

Arms to Germany—Dulles in 1926 advocated "unrestricted trade in arms and military supplies and the right of American bankers to make loans for military purposes." (This was when the State Department was trying to curtail loans to Germany and other countries for military purposes.)

German Bonds—In 1930 Dulles stated: "Germany made great progress under the Dawes plan. Her national income government income have grown to a point where the reparations charge constitutes a readily bearable percentage." (This was when Dulles was attorney for the American bankers floating loans to the American public. One year later these loans collapsed completely. American bondholders have not yet collected.)

Foreign Aid—In January 1953, Dulles warned France to sign EDC by April 1 or the United States would cut off aid. "The hand-out era is over," Dulles warned publicly. France has not yet ratified EDC, and aid to France is still continuing.

Massive Retaliation—On January 12, 1954, Dulles announced that the United States was prepared to meet aggression with instant retaliation "by means and places of our own choosing." We would "depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate instantly," he said. Since then Communist China has taken over the main portions of Indochina and poured more arms into North Korea.

Unrest Behind Curtain—On August 27, 1952, speaking at Buffalo, Dulles promised that Eisenhower would "encourage quiet revolution in Red-dominated countries." In January 1953 he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the U.S.A. must use "moral pressure and the weight of propaganda" to weaken Soviet satellites. But on September 18, 1953, he told the U. N. General Assembly: "Our creed does not call for exporting revolution and exciting others to violence."

Geneva Conference—At the conclusion of the Berlin Conference last winter, Dulles announced that the problems unsolved at Berlin would be taken up at the Geneva Conference which he called "the best hope of the world." The Geneva Conference ended in complete failure and complete capitulation to Russia in Indochina.

American Legion Promises — Addressing the Legion in St. Louis, September 2, 1953, Dulles said: "There is a risk that as in Korea, Red China might send its own army into Indochina. The Chinese regime should realize that such a second aggression could not be confined to Indochina." This threat of U. S. intervention apparently meant little. At least the Red Chinese sized it up that way and went right ahead in Indochina.

Trusteeship for Formosa — In April 1953 Dulles told newsmen that the United States would accept a U. N. trusteeship for Formosa and would accept a truce in Korea at a line drawn across Korea's narrow waist, about 80 miles north of the fighting line. Two days later the White House issued a flat denial. In the end, the White House was right. The United States accepted a Korean truce line far below the narrow waist and has never accepted a U. N. trusteeship for Formosa.

heard that the Illinois Citizens for Eisenhower didn't go all out for Mr. Meek. Among anti-McCarthyites sympathy was made of Meek's sympathetic attitude for McCarthy. When President Eisenhower visited the Illinois State Fair during the campaign, he did not invite Meek to sit on the platform with him nor let him ride with him in the parade. This was interpreted by many anti-McCarthy voters as a sign that the President wanted to remain aloof from a candidate who was prominently allied with the Wisconsin senator.

Helped GOP Lose Senate

Reports also are coming in that Senator Ferguson, defeated in Michigan, was hurt in some respects by the McCarthy issue because of the stay-at-home vote. This was a form of protest against both nominees.

The fact remains that the McCarthy issue cut deeply into the Republican chance of winning the Senate. Despite the plain implications of the controversy, some of the same people who have been needing the White House all along to become openly anti-McCarthy are now denouncing "peaceful co-existence" inside the Republican party and insisting that the President fight it out within the party on a knockdown-dragout basis. Many of those who are giving the White House that advice are themselves more in sympathy with Truman policies of the past than with the Republican party.

The censure controversy will leave deep wounds. The roll-call vote of each senator will be remembered. The controversy will carry over into the next session with more and more battling between Republicans. Senator Flanders, Republican, started the censure movement. He can wistfully survey the wreckage of the 1954 election and probably, if there are no measures applied by the leaders of the Republican party to bring harmony in that party in 1956, he will see a sequel then to the disunity of 1954.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Two little stories that highlight the way kids are brought up in this super-sensory age: 1. A mother, indicating disapproval of her young daughter's uncombed hair. "It looks like a mop," she concluded. The 10-year-old, in all sincerity, replied, "What's a mop, mom?" 2. A teacher, trying to make a class appreciate the wonders of electricity, declared, "Do you realize, children, that your grandmothers never could listen to ducky daylight serials on the radio while they did their household chores? Do you know why?" "Sure," piped up the son of an advertising man. "The sponsors weren't making soap yet."

By GEORGE ESKIN
Harold Hudson ran wild for 27 points to lead the LaSalle High School Explorers to 33-6 victory over the visiting Altoona Catholic High eleven last night at Greenway Avenue Stadium. His output gave Hudson a grand total of 97 markers for the season and left Fort Hill's Bob Andrews far behind at 74.

The victory for the charges of Coach Norman Geatz was the seventh of the season against two setbacks, and also marked the fifth straight time the Centre Street lads walked off victorious. A meager crowd of approximately 300 witnessed the contest, which saw the locals capitalize on several breaks to gain the lead which was never relinquished.

Hudson kicked off to open the game and after picking up the first down, Coach John Clancy's Marauders were forced to punt. LaSalle was unable to move with the ball and fumbled twice, the second bobbled recovered by tackle Ronald Carnicella.

Harris Intercepts Pass

The Explorers' soon regained possession, however, when Rickey Harris intercepted a pass thrown by halfback Panelli, and ran it to his own 42-yard line. From that point the LaSalle Express began to move, featured by a 27-yard jump by Eddie Bush, and Hudson plunged over from two yards out to cap the drive. His attempt at the extra point was wide, and the Geatzmen led at the end of the first quarter, 6-0.

On the first play of the second stanza, after being unable to move, Altoona went into punt formation from their 19-yard stripe. On the kick, however, the visitors were guilty of an illegal use of the hands penalty, pushing them back to the four, and McManus punted out to the Marauder 23.

Hudson ran the ball three times for 16 and 6 yards, and blasted through the center for the final yard and the tally. His attempted placement was low.

Hudson Scores From 14

LaSalle got its third touchdown in the same period, and it was Hudson again, running around his own right end for 14 yards and the score. This time he booted the ball through the uprights. The score at halftime was 19-0.

In the middle of the third quarter LaSalle displayed tremendous power on the ground. After Altoona lost the ball on down on the Explorer 7-yard stripe, Ken Lowery, Bill Buzzard, and Hudson earned six consecutive first downs in six straight plays. The thrust carried them down to the Altoona nine, and Lowery hit paydirt on a run around left end. Hudson again converted, and LaSalle led 25-0 at the end of the third period.

The fourth stanza of the evening game in the opening moments of the fourth stanza, and again it was fullback Hudson, who took the ball on the Marauders' 40-yard line, ran through right tackle, cut back inside to go all the way. His conversion was good, ending the scoring for the Geatzmen.

ACHS Averts Shutout

Altoona's only tally came late in the final period, against the Explorers' second-string. Featured by a pass from punt formation on fourth down which gained 20 yards, the drive was finished by Romagnoli, who romped the last fifteen around his end. Ballastino's extra point attempt was low.

The entire LaSalle team played well, the line opening huge holes for the backfield juggernaut to run through. For Altoona, Densovich and Romagnoli carried the brunt of the attack, and Amorosa and Carnicella excelled on the defensive line. Lineups:

Star in East

CENTER of a mild controversy involving Notre Dame two years ago, Charlie Sticka (above), is living up to his reputation as a football star. A standout freshman star at Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., Sticka went to Notre Dame and reports were that he was going to transfer there. It turned out to be a mistake, however, and Sticka stayed at Trinity. In his two seasons at Trinity, Sticka has scored 25 touchdowns and gained 1,450 yards. His team is undefeated. (International)

Trinidad Boxer Wins Third Fight In U. S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Shifty Hector Constance of Trinidad won his most unbeaten streak in the U. S., to three tonight by gaining a close and split decision over favored Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. Jones outboxed Constance, 161 to 153.

An 8-5 underdog, the rangy, fleet-footed West Indian won the votes of Referee Al Berl and Judge Arthur Susskind by 6 rounds to 4. Judge Frank Forbes had it a draw, 5 rounds and 6 points for each. The Associated Press had Constance in front, 6-3-1.

The slim crowd constantly applauded the interesting, almost clinch-free fight although there were no knockdowns and neither punched very hard. The 26-year-old Constance threw more punches and landed more often than his heavier rival who appeared very sluggish at 161.

Minors May Jump Draftees' Price

Leagues To Discuss $15,000 Proposal

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—A proposal to pin a $15,000 price tag in the major league draft of minor league baseball players will be submitted to the winter baseball meetings.

A spokesman for Commissioner Ford Frick said today the proposal first was presented to the major leagues in July but was tabled to allow time for study. It was drafted by Frick's major-league committee.

Under present baseball rules, players drafted from the Pacific Coast League cost $15,000. From the Class AAA leagues they cost $10,000 and on down to $2,000 for players from Class D leagues.

The proposal has been placed on the agenda of the meeting of the National Association (minors) at Houston, Nov. 29-Dec. 3 and of the major league meetings in New York, Dec. 6-8.

No action can affect this winter's major league draft which takes place in New York Nov. 22.

George Geatz Named To Coach LaSalle Quint

George Geatz will be the head basketball coach at LaSalle High School during the 1954-55 season succeeding his cousin, Norman F. Geatz, Jr., the Explorers' grid mentor who handled the cage aggregation last season.

Geatz coached LaSalle's basketball team last spring and his team won 13 of 16 contests.

The new cage mentor is one of LaSalle's greatest all-time athletes. He led the city basketball scorers in 1942 and 1943 with 282 and 302 tallies, played halfback at the North Centre Street school two seasons and was on the baseball team three seasons.

He was voted the most valuable player in the Bi-State Baseball League while a member of the Hyndman Firemen in 1952 and the Old Germans in 1953. George also played pro basketball with the Amvets, Dukes, Spas and Old Germans.

Fort Hill Score in the Second Period with a 20-Yard Run and Then ran it Over from the Four.

With 15 seconds remaining in the second quarter, LaSalle scored on a 68-yard pass play executed by Van Parsons and Jerry McGreevy with the latter carrying for 40 yards.

The victory was Fort Hill's sixth against a single loss. The Little Explorers defeated LaSalle twice and Allegany once to annex city honors. LaSalle holds two decisions over Allegany.

Mrs. J. P. Turner Dies

Eight-Year Cycle

Burns Owns 50-1 Shot

By C. V. BURNS

GEORGE ZORETIC, who refereed basketball games here when the Cumberland Dukes were in the All-American Pro Basketball League, has filed a suit of aggravated assault and battery against four unnamed fans who are alleged to have injured him at the close of the recent Perryopolis at Fairchance football game, won by Perryopolis 20-13.

Zoretic, referee of the game, suffered a broken nose and other injuries.

The ruckus resulted after trouble is alleged to have been caused by a Fairchance player, who has been suspended for the last two games of the season. Sterner disciplinary action against the player has been asked.

Because of the situation the WPIAL may force Fairchance to play afternoon games instead of contests at night.

IT WOULD BE a coincidence if pro basketball does an el folo in Cumberland this season because its the end of an eight-year cycle. The Amvets, Dukes, Spas and Old Germans kept the sport alive for eight consecutive years, winning 119 and losing 93 games. The 1950 Dukes beat Wheeling to capture the All-America Pro League title in 1950.

Two great Cumberland teams of the past faded after eight seasons, namely the Cumberland Caseys basketball team (1927-1933) and the Cumberland Colts of the Middle Atlantic League (1925-1932).

The Caseys played the country's best road teams and turned in a record of 140 wins and 57 losses.

The Colts won two pennants in the M. A. (1927-1931), scored 527 wins against 402 losses and held the distinction of never winding up a season under the .500 mark.

WILLIAM FUGITT, executive secretary of the West Virginia High School Athletic Association, rates Johnny Paugh's Moorefield Yellow Jackets fourth in the race for the West Virginia Class "B" football title.

Moorefield's three losses this year came at the hands of Class "A" schools. Farmington is rated No. 1 with 11.5 points followed by Rupert 11.25, Trap Hill 11.0 and Rupert 10.6.

The Jackets own a 5-0-0 against Class "B" West Virginia opposition.

BETTING was off all of Maryland's minor racing ovals this year.

Cumberland slumped 11.6 per cent, Bel Air 7 per cent, Timonium and Marlboro 6 per cent each and Hagerstown 5 per cent.

FUNERAL SERVICES were held in Baltimore Thursday for Mrs. Anna Josephine Turner, wife of John P. Turner, Jr., racing secretary and handicapper at Bowie.

Mrs. Turner died Monday at her home 16 Southfield Place, following an illness of several years.

John P. Turner, Jr., served as racing secretary for the Cumberland Fair Association about seven years ago and prior to that served in other capacities at LaSalle in meetings. The Turner family has been associated with racing in Maryland for many years.

GEORGE O. BUTTS, proprietor of Central Quick Lunch on North Centre Street, became a horse owner recently when he acquired Miss Comedy, a 7-year-old mare, formerly the property of Dick Long, of the Potomac Fruit Market, two doors south.

Several days later Miss Comedy, a 50 to 1 shot, won at Wheeling and returned $102.80 for $2. That was last Saturday.

Miss Comedy had won at Charles Town and Hagerstown in August but the payoffs were small in comparison to last week's jackpot.

THE ITEM we carried yesterday to the effect that LaSalle could set an all-time winning record of six straight if it copied its last two games of the season is correct. We understand that one of the "oldtimers" says LaSalle's unbeaten team (8-0-1) of 1930 won nine in a row. That's incorrect. The Explorers won their first four games, were held to a 6-6 tie by Waynesboro, and finished up with four wins in a row.

IF THERE IS a winner in the Fort Hill-Allegany game Thanksgiving Day it will break the tie which now exists in the series between the schools.

In 21 games played since 1936, each school has won nine, lost nine and tied three.

Allegany's record in Turkey Day games with LaSalle, Penn Avenue and Fort Hill is 12 wins, 11 losses and 3 ties. Fort Hill's Turkey Day record is 7-9-2.

Marguerite Stakes Will Be Run Today

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—The fastest among seven 2-year-old fillies will win a fat purse of $34,025 tomorrow in the Marguerite Stakes at Pimlico.

It is the first time the seven have raced in an added money event.

Star in East

CENTER of a mild controversy involving Notre Dame two years ago, Charlie Sticka (above), is living up to his reputation as a football star. A standout freshman star at Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., Sticka went to Notre Dame and reports were that he was going to transfer there. It turned out to be a mistake, however, and Sticka stayed at Trinity. In his two seasons at Trinity, Sticka has scored 23 touchdowns and gained 1,450 yards. His team is undefeated. (International)

Minors May Jump Draftees' Price

Leagues To Discuss $15,000 Proposal

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—A proposal to pin a $15,000 price tag in the major league draft of minor league baseball players will be submitted to the winter baseball meetings.

A spokesman for Commissioner Ford Frick said today the proposal first was presented to the major leagues in July but was tabled to allow time for study. It was drafted by Frick's major-league committee.

Under present baseball rules, players drafted from the Pacific Coast League cost $15,000. From the Class AAA leagues they cost $10,000 and on down to $2,000 for players from Class D leagues.

The proposal has been placed on the agenda of the meeting of the National Association (minors) at Houston, Nov. 29-Dec. 3 and of the major league meetings in New York, Dec. 6-8.

No action can affect this winter's major league draft which takes place in New York Nov. 22.

George Geatz Named To Coach LaSalle Quint

George Geatz will be the head basketball coach at LaSalle High School during the 1954-55 season succeeding his cousin, Norman F. Geatz, Jr., the Explorers' grid mentor who handled the cage aggregation last season.

George coached LaSalle's basketball team last spring and his team won 13 of 16 contests.

The new cage mentor is one of LaSalle's greatest all-time athletes. He led the city basketball scorers in 1942 and 1943 with 282 and 302 tallies, played halfback at the North Centre Street school two seasons and was on the baseball team three seasons.

He was voted the most valuable player in the Bi-State Baseball League while a member of the Hyndman Firemen in 1952 and the Old Germans in 1953. George also played pro basketball with the Amvets, Dukes, Spas and Old Germans.

Eight-Year Cycle

Mrs. J. P. Turner Dies
Butts Owns 50-1 Shot

By C. V. BURNS

GEORGE ZORETIC, who refereed basketball games here when the Cumberland Dukes were in the All-American Pro Basketball League, has filed a suit of aggravated assault and battery against four unnamed fans who are alleged to have injured him at the close of the recent Perryopolis at Fairchance football game, won by Perryopolis 20-13.

Zoretic, referee of the game, suffered a broken nose and other injuries.

The ruckus resulted after trouble is alleged to have been caused by a Fairchance player, who has been suspended for the last two games of the season. Sterner disciplinary action against the player has been asked.

Because of the situation the WPAL may force Fairchance to play afternoon games instead of contests at night.

IT WOULD BE a coincidence if pro basketball does an el feto in Cumberland this season because its the end of an eight-year cycle.

The Amvets, Dukes, Spas and Old Germans kept the sport alive for eight consecutive years, winning 119 and losing 93 games. The 1950 Dukes beat Wheeling to capture the All-America Pro League title in 1950.

Two great Cumberland teams of the past faded after eight seasons, namely the Cumberland Caseys basketball team (1927-1933) and the Cumberland Colts of the Middle Atlantic League (1925-1932).

The Caseys played the country's best road teams and turned in a record of 140 wins and 57 losses.

The Colts won two pennants in the M. A. (1927-1931), scored 527 wins against 402 losses and held the distinction of never winding up a season under the .500 mark.

WILLIAM FUGITT, executive secretary of the West Virginia High School Athletic Association, released Johnny Paugh's Moorefield Yellow Jackets fourth in the race for the West Virginia Class "B" football title.

Moorefield's three losses this year came at the hands of Class "A" schools.

Farmington is rated No. 1 with 11.5 points followed by Rupert 11.25, Trap Hill 11.0 and Moorefield 10.6.

The Jackets own a 5-0-0 against Class "B" West Virginia opposition.

BETTING was off all of Maryland's minor racing ovals this year.

Cumberland slumped 11.6 per cent, Bel Air 7 per cent, Timonium and Mariboro 6 per cent each and Hagerstown 5 per cent.

FUNERAL SERVICES were held in Baltimore Thursday for Mrs. Anna Josephine Turner, wife of John P. Turner, Jr., racing secretary and handicapper at Bowie.

Mrs. Turner died Monday at her home 16 Southfield Place, following an illness of several years.

John P. Turner, Jr., served as racing secretary for the Cumberland Fair Association about seven years ago and prior to that served in other capacities at Fairgo racing meets. The Turner family has been associated with racing in Maryland for many years.

GEORGE O. BUTTS, proprietor of Central Quick Lunch on North Centre Street, became a horse owner recently when he acquired Miss Comedy, a 7-year-old mare, formerly the property of Dick Long, of the Potomac Fruit Market, two doors south.

Several days later Miss Comedy, a 50 to 1 shot, won at Wheeling and returned $102.80 for $2. That was last Saturday.

Miss Comedy had won at Charles Town and Hagerstown in August but the payoffs were small in comparison to last week's jackpot.

THE ITEM we carried yesterday to the effect that LaSalle could set an all-time winning record of six straight if it copied its last two games of the season is correct. We understand that one of the "oldtimers" says LaSalle's unbeaten team (8-0-1) of 1950 won nine in a row. That's incorrect. The Explorers won their first four games, were held to a 6-6 tie by Waynesboro, and finished up with four wins in a row.

IF THERE IS a winner in the Fort Hill-Allegany game Thanksgiving Day it will break the tie which now exists in the series between the schools.

In 21 games played since 1926, each school has won nine, lost nine and tied three.

Allegany's record in Turkey Day games with LaSalle Penn Avenue and Fort Hill is 12 wins, 11 losses and 3 ties. Fort Hill's Turkey Day record is 7-9-2.

Thanksgiving Day games. They've won six, lost one and tied two.

NINE PLAYERS from the tri-state area appear in the basketball roster at Shepherd College. They are George Hott and Jimmy Peters, Moorefield; Gafy Kerns, Berkeley Springs; Don Largent, Paw Paw; Willard Look, Wardensville; Roger Maphis, Romney; and John Poling, Bill Turner and Lee Weller, Cumberland.

Maphis, Turner and Poling are among the seven lettermen on the squad of 22 players coached by Donald E. Fuoss.

The Rams kick off the lid December 1, meeting Frostburg State Teachers College at Shepherdstown.

DICK HARRYMAN, of Towson, bagged the largest buck of Maryland's bow and arrow season this week near Loch Raven. The animal scaled 185 pounds, sported eight massive points and was felled with a single arrow near the shoulder from 27 paces.

Harryman used a 58-pound bow. The buck traveled 67 yards after being hit.

Twenty-three deer were reported killed by archers up to Wednesday of this week. Fifteen were checked in Harford county. A record total of 49 was taken in Maryland last year.

Army Gridder's Eligibility Is Studied By ECAC

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Asa A. Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, said today the eligibility of Tommy Bell, Army halfback, was being studied by appropriate committees of the ECAC and a prompt decision could be expected.

It was discovered yesterday that Bell was playing his fifth season with the Cadets, two as freshmen.

Bushnell's office pointed out that both the Military and Naval Academies had received permission to waive certain sections of the normal eligibility rules and that the Bell case required special study.

Lt. Col. James T. L. Schwenk, graduate manager of athletics, said Army knew of Bell's status but felt the Cadets had not violated any rules.

It was the fifth time in nine outings that Rectortown finished "in the money" this year. The Price thoroughbred now has a 2-1-2 record.

The payoff on Rectortown was $9.00, $5.80 and $3.20.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's eleven could finish up the season with an overall record of 5-2 and a conference record of 4-2 by bagging today's game.

It will be the first meeting of these schools on the gridiron in 12 years, the last clash being in 1942. In the 19-game series Potomac has won 10 and Fairmont 7. Two games ended in deadlocks.

All of the Falcons' opponents this season are conference schools against whom Fairmont has won two and lost five.

Emporia And Hastings Play In Mineral Bowl

Hastings College of Nebraska earlier this week accepted a bid to play in the game.

Hartack Rides Four Winners At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—While equalling Pimlico's mile and an eighth track record, Thornecliff Farm's Rock Cottage carried Jockey Bill Hartack to his fourth winner on today's card at the Maryland Jockey Club track.

Coming on with a strong stretch rally, the 4-year-old colt got up to score by three-quarters of a length over Beau Broke and was timed in 1:40 4/5, which equals the mark set by Brookmeade Stable's Chains.

Hartack's other winners were Bernice W. ($3,400), Hush Hall ($13,200) and Zuyder Zee ($5,200).

Hartack, leading rider of the Pimlico meeting, boosted his total to 16 with Rock Cottage's victory. His closest rival is Nick Shuk who has scored with eight mounts.

Marines Boost Lead In VFW Shuffle Loop

Hampshire Co. Gas Well Flow Is Doubled

Production Passes Million Cubic Feet

ROMNEY—The productivity of the Hampshire County gas well which was brought in Monday near Augusta has increased so rapidly that drillers were forced to cap the well.

Representatives of the drilling firm said the capping action was necessary when the gas flow suddenly doubled drilling rights to Anderson and his associates but reserved a percentage of the prospective royalties.

Hoffer, therefore, together with Mrs. Williams, a heir of the late Mr. Williams, and others who have retained their interests in the properties that make up the huge tract, as well as the property owners directly involved, will be among the ones sharing in the royalties if the gas strike proves to be of commercial quantity.

Hampshire Center

The strike came, Hoffer said, as the well shaft entered the Oriskany formation, a 200-foot thick layer of rock lying in a dome-like shape over the formation known as the whip cove anticline.

The anticline is a geologic formation much like an inverted bowl, traversing Hampshire County in a northeasterly-southwesterly direction on a line conforming to the center of Gore and Sherman districts.

Beginning near Needmore, Pa., the gas-bearing formation extends 35 miles southward into Hardy County, W. Va., averaging from two to four miles in width along its entire course.

Hoffer places the center of the formation somewhere near the geographic center of Hampshire County.

The Dolan well is the third sunk by Anderson in the Augusta area during the past three years. Two other shafts, forming a two-mile triangle with the present well, were commercially unproductive.

Hampshire Co. Gas Well Flow Is Doubled

Production Passes Million Cubic Feet

ROMNEY—The productivity of the Hampshire County gas well which was brought in Monday near Augusta has increased so rapidly that drillers were forced to cap the well.

Representatives of the drilling firm said the capping action was necessary when the gas flow suddenly doubled in volume. Yesterday morning, the flow was estimated in excess of a million cubic feet.

Clarence W. Hoffer, Washington, consulting geologist for Milburn E. Anderson, Warren, Ohio, and W. O. Youkers, Knox, Pa., estimates the shaft will produce upwards of five million cubic feet per day when it reaches a stage of full productivity.

Hampshire Center

The strike came, Hoffer said, as the well shaft entered the Oriskany formation, a 200-foot thick layer of rock lying in a dome-like shape over the formation known as the whip cove anticline.

The anticline is a geologic formation much like an inverted bowl, traversing Hampshire County in a northeasterly-southwesterly direction on a line conforming to the center of Gore and Sherman districts.

Beginning near Needmore, Pa., the gas-bearing formation extends 35 miles southward into Hardy County, W. Va., averaging from two to four miles in width along its entire course.

Hoffer places the center of the formation somewhere near the geographic center of Hampshire County. The Dolan well is the third sunk by Anderson in the Augusta area during the past three years. Two other shafts, forming a two-mile triangle with the present well, were commercially unproductive.

Company Has Rights

The Anderson Company has drilling rights to 35,000 acres of what is expected to be the most productive segment of the gas-carry formation.

Commander Hoffer, the late George H. Williams and the Brundage Oil Corporation leased the land originally. They assigned

Q. WHAT DOES A LEADING AUTHORITY SAY ABOUT THE IMPORTANCE OF TELEVISION?

A. Senator Johnston, of Colorado, said that "television is Humanity's greatest single blessing." So you certainly need television.

Don't let anyone "talk you into taking the wrong road," and if you are on the wrong road, it is better to get on the right road, as soon as possible; and we mean using direct antenna.

Alcoholic Clinic Is Sought For Allegany County

Dellinger To Conduct Institute Here Soon

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, announced yesterday that he has asked the Maryland State Department of Health to establish an alcoholism clinic in Allegany County.

He said J. B. Dellinger, chief of the section on Alcohol Studies of the State Health Department, has advised that this county will be in line for the service if additional funds are provided by the 1955 General Assembly.

Dr. Frantz said Dellinger is making plans to come to Cumberland in the near future, so he can meet with interested organizations at an institute on the subject.

Program Under Way

He added that he feels the County Health Department will have available local personnel needed to conduct such a clinic.

The State Health Department in 1952 set up a Section on Alcohol Studies, and has established clinics and a program for research and prevention.

Health officials estimate there are about 15,000 sick alcoholics in Maryland who need immediate medical or psychiatric treatment or both.

Special alcoholic clinics have been established in Baltimore City, Towson, Annapolis, Rockville, Hagerstown and Salisbury, under the supervision of the State Health Department.

To Expand Program

Present plans call for the expansion of the program to provide clinical services for each of the counties.

Maryland's medical colleges are also working on the problem.

At Johns Hopkins, the Henry Phipps Psychiatric Clinic has begun a one-year study on the motivation of alcoholics, and has invited alcoholics and their spouses to attend discussion sessions to bring about a better understanding of the problem.

The Psychiatric Institute of the University of Maryland Medical School has also begun a one-year program of in-service training, research and treatment and outpatient clinical work.

Students Will Eat Pork Loin Or Ham For Thanksgiving

Allegany County public school students will have a pork loin or fresh ham dinner for their Thanksgiving feast.

Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias for the Board of Education, said two and one-quarter tons of the two kinds of meat have been ordered.

Cafeteria managers will get their preference of the two meats.

Traditionally, the school lunch program has turkey at one of the two holiday meals. This year, the turkey dinner will be served at Christmas time, Mrs. Eaton said.

The Thanksgiving meal will be served on Tuesday, November 23, as Wednesday, November 24, schools will close at 1 p. m. and only a light lunch will be served.

Girl Scout Board Charts Program For Two Months

Training, Election, Investiture Slated

The Cumberland Girl Scout Board has completed plans to hold a dinner for all Scout leaders, to arrange the annual dinner meeting and election, and to plan a training course for future Scout leaders.

According to Mrs. Joseph Williams, acting president, nine council and board members will be inducted at an investiture ceremony as a part of the annual meeting. The meeting and election date has been tentatively set for January 12.

The Leaders' dinner, an innovation this year, is designed to give the Scout Board an opportunity to recognize the work done by all adult leaders at the troop level, the neighborhood and district level as well as the scout council level. This affair will be held December 2.

At the election this year, it will be necessary to elect a president, two vice presidents, three district chairmen, two for two-year terms and one for a single-year term. Three members of the membership nominating committee will also be elected and five board members must be chosen. Under Girl Scout by-laws, there is a limit to the number of years that officers, board members and council members may serve as such.

At this week's meeting of the Board a number of reports were considered, including a special report by Mrs. Ralph Isminger on a regional conference she attended recently in Washington. She was accompanied by Mrs. Williams, Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive, Mrs. Ellsworth Brewer, Mrs. Edward Sokolowski, and Miss Mary Jane Howell, a senior scout. A complete and detailed report of this regional meeting is being prepared, Mrs. Williams said, for the annual meeting.

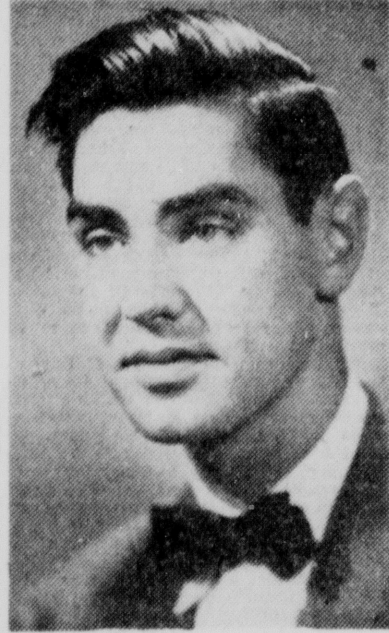

Mrs. Paul Umberger, chairman of the Juliet Low International Committee reported on a plan to restore the birthplace of Juliet Low in Savannah, Ga. Each scout troop and each adult in scouting is being asked to contribute one dollar toward this restoration fund.

Since the founder of Girl Scouting was popularly known as "Daisy," the sponsors of this restoration fund are using a daisy as a symbol for acknowledging contributions. Each Girl Scout Troop which gives a dollar will receive a symbolic daisy and these are to be woven into a daisy chain. Mrs. Umberger said, and placed on the Christmas tree when it is decorated this year at the Scout House.

On the adult leader training program, Mrs. Williams noted that 22 hours of training is required of all board and council members and a program is being worked out so the training can be completed early in 1955. There are more than 100 adults active in Girl Scout work here.

Railroader Has Legs Mangled Under Box Car

Herman Barnes Is In Critical Condition

A 53-year-old Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employee had both his legs mangled to the knees yesterday afternoon in a mishap which occurred while he was working in the yards of the westbound hump.

He was identified as Herman Barnes of Green Ridge. The victim was rushed to Memorial Hospital and treated for shock prior to undergoing surgery.

Yesterday evening he was reported in critical condition. The hospital said it was expected the mangled part of his legs would have to be amputated.

The accident, according to a railroad spokesman, occurred about 4:10 p. m. when a loaded box car ran over the victim's legs.

Barnes, a carman helper, was reported to have been inspecting cars on No. 13 track at the far end of the westbound tracks.

The loaded box car was being shifted westbound off the hump to adjoining track No. 12 and Barnes apparently failed to hear the warning of a co-worker that the car was approaching a point where he was inspecting other cars.

The railroad spokesman said Barnes was not in the direct path of the moving car and the cause of his being caught under the car was not determined.

A preliminary investigation by railroad officials was started immediately after the mishap and is being continued, the spokesman added.

Barnes has worked on the railroad since 1941. He was working the 3-to-11 shift yesterday when the accident occurred.

Election Board Can Decide On Bad Ballots

High Court Upholds Supervisors' Power

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 12 (AP) — The Court of Appeals today reaffirmed the right of Maryland election supervisors to use their discretion in deciding during a vote recount whether a ballot has been properly marked.

Attorneys for George P. Mahoney, who was defeated for Democratic nomination for governor in the June 28 primary, had argued that the law gave them no such discretion. If the ballots contained hand markings other than an X, they argued, they had to be rejected.

"This, we think, is too narrow a view of the discretion confided to the supervisors," the Court of Appeals said in a 16-page opinion written by Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune.

The opinion amplified reasons why the high court on Aug. 25 refused Mahoney a writ of mandamus which would have required Talbot County supervisors to reject certain ballots he contended were illegally marked. The decision against him had been issued the same day arguments were heard with reasons for it to follow.

The court said, in effect, that supervisors looking at a ballot are entitled to say whether an extraneous marking was made accidentally or as an intentional means of identifying the ballot. In the latter case, the ballot should be rejected.

After reviewing each class of marking protested by Mahoney, counsel, the Court of Appeals concluded:

"The evidence, we think, shows that in making the recount the supervisors discharged their duties conscientiously and to the best of their ability."

"It fails, we think, to establish that in the exercise of the discretion confided to them to whether or not the challenged ballots should be counted, the supervisors so clearly fell into error as to show that their decisions were contrary to law or unsupported in fact so as to be 'clearly illegal'."

"If there were any such errors, they were too few in number to alter the result of the election. Accordingly, we affirmed the order denying the petition."

Hearing Set Today For Brady Mongold

The State's Attorney's Office reported yesterday that Brady Mongold, Oldtown Road, will be charged with petty larceny at a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court today.

He was arrested several days ago by State Police in connection with the theft of gasoline from the incinerator building at the city dump.

Sanitary Staff Cites Activities

Three convictions on dumping charges in Allegany County were cited in the work accomplished by Health Department sanitarians during October.

The month also marked the condemnation of three buildings as health hazards, improvements in restaurant sanitation and improvements to dairy plants.

The sanitary staff, headed by J. Byron Dowling, made 412 field trips during the month, including 86 on Sewage, 18 to check garbage dumping, 121 visits to food establishments and 93 to dairy farms.

Collected for analysis were 99 water samples, 403 milk samples and 72 swab tests on equipment at food and drinking establishments.

Court Hearing Set On Whitworth Suit

Report Termed Confidential By Board

A hearing has been scheduled in Baltimore City Court on November 30 on a suit filed by Allegany County Delegate Horace P. Whitworth Jr., to force the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland to release a controversial accrediting report.

Judge James K. Cullen will preside at the hearing scheduled at 2 p. m.

Arguments on behalf of the Board of Regents will be presented by Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins and Clifton Owens, a member of his staff.

Whitworth, who is a practicing attorney in addition to his duties as a delegate to the General Assembly will represent himself at the hearing.

The hearing was set yesterday afternoon after the Board of Regents asked the court to dismiss the suit filed by the Westernport legislator to make them release the report, saying it does not deal with "operations of the university."

Cites 1952 Law

It was their answer to a Baltimore City Court petition by State Del. Whitworth (R-Allegany). The regents twice have voted to keep the report secret and he wants to make them release it under a 1952 law.

The law states that the regents must give legislators "any information about any phase of operation of the university that may be requested."

The regents replied through Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins that "the information requested in the petition filed against them is of such a confidential nature, and came from a source, and was given to the Board of Regents for such a purpose as to exclude it from the legal operation and affect" of the 1952 law.

Was Election Issue

The report was made by the Middle States Association of College and Secondary Schools and its contents became an issue in the campaign between Gov. McKeldin and Dr. H. C. Byrd for governor.

The regents finally released what they said was a summary of the report. The Association gave the university until 1956 to make certain improvements and changes or face loss of its accreditation.

The act under which Whitworth filed his petition was passed at the request of Dr. Byrd, then president of the university. It gave the university a great deal of autonomy from previous strict control by the Legislature.

O'Neal Elected Chairman Of ASC Committee

Albert O'Neal yesterday was re-elected chairman of the Allegany Committee of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation during a convention held at the local ASC office.

Re-elected vice chairman was James H. Weimer with Joseph W. Silver, re-elected a regular member of the committee. The two alternates named are Leonard J. Stegmair and Russell M. Valentine.

The newly-elected officers will hold their initial meeting Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the local office. At that time they will elect a secretary and a treasurer to the county committee.

Delegates attending yesterday's convention included Roy A. Shourt Jr., Community No. 2; Ernest R. Slider, No. 3; Roy M. Twigg, No. 4; Leslie E. Hinkle, No. 5; Harry H. Delbrook, No. 6; Harry J. Barton, No. 7; Charles T. Clise, No. 8 and James A. Morgan, No. 9.

Duties of the county committee include planning the annual program and administering the agricultural conservation and price support program.

It also directs activities of the county committees elected throughout the county and makes available to the public information concerning objectives and operations of the program directed by the county group.

The committee also supervises acreage allotment and marketing quota programs and any other programs assigned to it by the Secretary of Agriculture or by Congress.

More Taxes Needed

Earlier the convention adopted another resolution asking the State to increase its sales tax, its income tax, or both in order to provide more money for the schools.

The proposal brought from Mrs. Patricia Rinehart of Landover Hills the comment that at long last the PTA had the courage to plead for higher taxes to pay for the school improvements it demanded.

The convention also went on record for an "effective automobile inspection" system.

The delegates compromised on a suggestion for State operated, but not State owned, stations in larger population centers, with private stations in other areas.

Armin Clement, representing the Montgomery Blair High School unit, sponsored the plan.

The jam-packed convention spent most of the day hammering out compromises of this nature in the wording of the PTA's legislative program from Maryland.

Would Build New Schools
Besides the big expansion in State aid for schools, it called for more money for public libraries, a retirement system for school bus drivers, and driver training for high school pupils.

Most of the 14½ million it asked in additional State money each year would go for providing 200

Md. PTA Seeks 'Sound' Plan For Desegregation

Maximum Local Control Urged

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP) — The Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers today affirmed its pledge to work for "sound plans" to end segregation in the public schools.

Delegates representing 117,000 members in the State organization adopted a resolution which approved "a maximum amount of local control in bringing about desegregation."

The resolution was introduced by Alfred Toombs, president of the St. Marys County P-TA Council on behalf of delegates from five other local units in Montgomery, Anne Arundel, Kent, and Calvert counties.

Among these was Cmdr. J. M. Court of Owensville, who had sponsored the "West River proclamation" last summer. The proclamation called for a referendum on segregation.

The resolution adopted today called for full and frank discussion of segregation at all levels within the P-TA organization throughout the State. It expressed a belief this would help reach a solution of segregation problems.

'Compromise' Favored

Toombs called it "a smoke-filled room compromise." He called for its adoption without the changing of a word, lest those with strong personal convictions for or against segregation split the organization by insisting that it adopt their views.

Paul C. Howard of the Westport PTA and J. E. Blomgren of the Montgomery Blair High School unit, both in Montgomery County, Clara Mae Chaney of the Beach Elementary PTA in Calvert County and Lillian K. Sparks of the Chestertown High School unit in Kent county joined Toombs and Court in sponsoring the resolution.

It read:

"The Supreme Court has rendered its opinion that continuation of segregated schools is unconstitutional. 'State authorities have accepted this opinion as being just and equitable and have urged a maximum amount of local control in bringing about desegregation of the schools.'

"The Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers approves this approach and believes that solution of the problems will be assisted by full and frank discussion at all levels of the PTA organization."

"We shall cooperate with the state and local boards of education and other governmental authorities for the development of sound plans to this end."

No Changes Made

The latter statement is similar to one adopted by the state organization's board of managers in July.

Toombs said the compromise "will not be exactly satisfactory to anyone, yet it will offend no one. But we are devoted to PTA. We put our organization above our personal convictions."

There was one attempt to change the wording on grounds State authorities did not have the alternative of accepting or not accepting the Supreme Court decision.

Not a "no" was heard against it when the vote was taken after the brief discussion.

Many of the 693 delegates registered for the convention, a record number, had drifted away from the long session when the segregation issue finally was brought to the floor.

The final move was to adopt a five-year plan calling for the State government to increase its spending for schools by about 14½ million a year.

Earlier the convention adopted another resolution asking the State to increase its sales tax, its income tax, or both in order to provide more money for the schools.

The proposal brought from Mrs. Patricia Rinehart of Landover Hills the comment that at long last the PTA had the courage to plead for higher taxes to pay for the school improvements it demanded.

The convention also went on record for an "effective automobile inspection" system.

The delegates compromised on a suggestion for State operated, but not State owned, stations in larger population centers, with private stations in other areas.

Armin Clement, representing the Montgomery Blair High School unit, sponsored the plan.

The jam-packed convention spent most of the day hammering out compromises of this nature in the wording of the PTA's legislative program from Maryland.

Would Build New Schools
Besides the big expansion in State aid for schools, it called for more money for public libraries, a retirement system for school bus drivers, and driver training for high school pupils.

Most of the 14½ million it asked in additional State money each year would go for providing 200

Alcoholic Clinic Is Sought For Allegany County

Dellinger To Conduct Institute Here Soon

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, announced yesterday that he has asked the Maryland State Department of Health to establish an alcoholic clinic in Allegany County.

He said J. B. Dellinger, chief of the section on Alcohol Studies of the State Health Department, has advised that this county will be in line for the service if additional funds are provided by the 1955 General Assembly.

Dr. Frantz said Dellinger is making plans to come to Cumberland in the near future, so he can meet with interested organizations at an institute on the subject.

Program Under Way

He added that he feels the County Health Department will have available local personnel needed to conduct such a clinic.

The State Health Department in 1952 set up a Section on Alcohol Studies, and has established clinics and a program for research and prevention.

Health officials estimate there are about 15,000 sick alcoholics in Maryland who need immediate medical or psychiatric treatment or both.

Special alcoholic clinics have been established in Baltimore City, Towson, Annapolis, Rockville, Hagerstown and Salisbury, under the supervision of the State Health Department.

To Expand Program

Present plans call for the expansion of the program to provide clinical services for each of the counties.

Maryland's medical colleges are also working on the problem.

At Johns Hopkins, the Henry Phipps Psychiatric Clinic has begun a one-year study on the motivation of alcoholics, and has invited alcoholics and their spouses to attend discussion sessions to bring about a better understanding of the problem.

The Psychiatric Institute of the University of Maryland Medical School has also begun a one-year program of in-service training, research and treatment and outpatient clinical work.

Students Will Eat Pork Loin Or Ham For Thanksgiving

Allegany County public school students will have a pork loin or fresh ham dinner for their Thanksgiving feast.

Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias for the Board of Education, said two and one-quarter tons of the two kinds of meat have been ordered.

Cafeteria managers will get their preference of the two meats.

Traditionally, the school lunch program has turkey at one of the two holiday meals. This year, the turkey dinner will be served at Christmas time, Mrs. Eaton said.

The Thanksgiving meal will be served on Tuesday, November 23, as Wednesday, November 24, schools will close at 1 p. m. and only a light lunch will be served.

Girl Scout Board Charts Program For Two Months

Training, Election, Investiture Slated

The Cumberland Girl Scout Board has completed plans to hold a dinner for all Scout leaders, to arrange the annual dinner meeting and election, and to plan a training course for future Scout leaders.

According to Mrs. Joseph Williams, acting president, nine council and board members will be inducted at an investiture ceremony as a part of the annual meeting. The meeting and election date has been tentatively set for January 12.

The Leaders' dinner, an innovation this year, is designed to give the Scout Board an opportunity to recognize the work done by all adult leaders at the troop level, the neighborhood and district level, as well as the scout council level. This affair will be held December 2.

At the election this year, it will be necessary to elect a president, two vice presidents, three district chairmen, two for two-year terms and one for a single-year term. Three members of the membership nominating committee will also be elected and five board members must be chosen. Under Girl Scout by-laws, there is a limit to the number of years that officers, board members and council members may serve as such.

At this week's meeting of the Board a number of reports were considered, including a special report by Mrs. Ralph Isminger on a regional conference she attended recently in Washington. She was accompanied by Mrs. Williams, Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive, Mrs. Ellsworth Brewer, Mrs. Edward Sokolowski, and Miss Mary Jane Howell, a senior scout.

A complete and detailed report of this regional meeting is being prepared, Mrs. Williams said, for the annual meeting.

Mrs. Paul Umberger, chairman of the Juliet Low International Committee reported on a plan to restore the birthplace of Juliet Low in Savannah, Ga. Each scout troop and each adult in scouting is being asked to contribute one dollar toward this restoration fund.

Since the founder of Girl Scouting was popularly known as "Daisy" the sponsors of this restoration fund are using a daisy as a symbol for acknowledging contributions. Each Girl Scout Troop which gives a dollar will receive a symbolic daisy and these are to be woven into a daisy chain, Mrs. Umberger said, and placed on the Christmas tree when it is decorated this year at the Scout House.

On the adult leader training program, Mrs. Williams noted that 22 hours of training is required of all board and council members and a program is being worked out so the training can be completed early in 1955. There are more than 100 adults active in Girl Scout work here.

Others in the cast include Patricia Weaver, Leon Shumaker, Ruby Riley, Dorothy Rice, Robert Smith, George Pitzer, and Barbara Priddy.

Rita Marker will serve as student director of this production. "Gramercy Ghost," is the story of Nancy Willard, who inherits an old home and with it the ghost of Nathaniel Coombes, a revolutionary soldier.

Elizabeth Mayselle Mongold, Route 4, paid fines and costs totaling $16.45 on a charge of reckless driving after a hearing before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick yesterday. She was arrested on Virginia Avenue Thursday by Officer Kenneth W. Morrissey.

Robert Bowie McClure, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McClure, 622 Washington Street, has become a member of the Christian Service Group at Mercersburg Academy, Mercersburg, Pa.

Members of the Fort Hill Players have selected "Gramercy Ghost" for their annual play production. Miss Helen Smith, director, said the play will be presented December 3 in Fort Hill High School auditorium.

This comedy production, has six leading roles. Starring in the cast are Elwood Harden, Barbara Thuss, Stanley Wilson, Jan Seidler, and Mary Wheeler.

Others in the cast include Patricia Weaver, Leon Shumaker, Ruby Riley, Dorothy Rice, Robert Smith, George Pitzer, and Barbara Priddy.

Railroader Has Legs Mangled Under Box Car

Herman Barnes Is In Critical Condition

A 53-year-old Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employee had both his legs mangled to the knees yesterday afternoon in a mishap which occurred while he was working in the yards of the westbound hump.

He was identified as Herman Barnes of Green Ridge. The victim was rushed to Memorial Hospital and treated for shock prior to undergoing surgery.

Yesterday evening he was reported in critical condition. The hospital said it was expected the mangled part his legs would have to be amputated.

The accident, according to a railroad spokesman, occurred about 4:10 p. m. when a loaded box car ran over the victim's legs.

Barnes, a carman helper, was reported to have been inspecting cars on No. 13 track at the far end of the westbound tracks.

The loaded box car was being shifted westbound off the hump to adjoining track No. 12 and Barnes apparently failed to hear the warning of a co-worker that the car was approaching a point where he was inspecting other cars.

The railroad spokesman said Barnes was not in the direct path of the moving car and the cause of his being caught under the car was not determined.

A preliminary investigation by railroad officials was started immediately after the mishap and is being continued, the spokesman added.

Barnes has worked on the railroad since 1941. He was working the 3-to-11 shift yesterday when the accident occurred.

Election Board Can Decide On Bad Ballots

High Court Upholds Supervisors' Power

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 12 (AP) — The Court of Appeals today reaffirmed the right of Maryland election supervisors to use their discretion in deciding during a vote recount whether a ballot has been properly marked.

Attorneys for George P. Mahoney, who was defeated for Democratic nomination for governor in the June 28 primary, had argued that the law gave them no such discretion. If the ballots contained hand markings other than an X, they argued, they had to be rejected.

"This, we think, is too narrow a view of the discretion conferred to the supervisors," the Court of Appeals said in a 16-page opinion written by Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune.

The opinion amplified reasons why the high court on Aug. 25 refused Mahoney a writ of mandamus which would have required Talbot County supervisors to reject certain ballots he contended were illegally marked. The decision against him had been issued the same day arguments were heard with reasons for it to follow.

The court said, in effect, that supervisors looking at a ballot are entitled to say whether an extraneous marking was made accidentally or as an intentional means of identifying the ballot. In the latter case, the ballot should be rejected.

After reviewing each class of marking protested by Mahoney, counsel, the Court of Appeals concluded:

"The evidence, we think, shows that in making the recount the supervisors discharged their duties conscientiously and to the best of their ability."

"It fails, we think, to establish that in the exercise of the discretion conferred to them to whether or not the challenged ballots should be counted, the supervisors so clearly fell into error as to show that their decisions were contrary to law or unsupported in fact so as to be 'clearly illegal.'"

"If there were any such errors, they were too few in number to alter the result of the election. Accordingly, we affirmed the order denying the petition."

Court Hearing Set On Whitworth Suit

Report Termed Confidential By Board

A hearing has been scheduled in Baltimore City Court on November 30 on a suit filed by Allegany County Delegate Horace P. Whitworth Jr., to force the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland to release a controversial accreditation report.

Judge James K. Cullen will preside at the hearing scheduled at 2 p. m.

Arguments on behalf of the Board of Regents will be presented by Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins and Clifton Owens, a member of his staff.

Whitworth, who is a practicing attorney in addition to his duties as a delegate to the General Assembly will represent himself at the hearing.

The hearing was set yesterday afternoon after the Board of Regents asked the court to dismiss the suit filed by the Westernport legislator to make them release the report, saying it does not deal with "operations of the university."

Cites 1952 Law

It was their answer to a Baltimore City Court petition by State Del. Whitworth (R-Allegany). The regents twice have voted to keep the report secret and he wants to make them release it under a 1952 law.

The law states that the regents must give legislators "any information about any phase of operation of the university that may be requested."

The regents replied through Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins that "the information requested in the petition filed against them is of such a confidential nature, and came from a source, and was given to the Board of Regents for such a purpose as to exclude it from the legal operation and affect" of the 1952 law.

Was Election Issue

The report was made by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and its contents became an issue in the campaign between Gov. McKeldin and Dr. H. C. Byrd for governor.

The regents finally released what they said was a summary of the report. The Association gave the university until 1956 to make certain improvements and changes or face loss of its accreditation.

The act under which Whitworth filed his petition was passed at the request of Dr. Byrd, then president of the university. It gave the university a great deal of autonomy from previous strict control by the Legislature.

O'Neal Elected Chairman Of ASC Committee

Albert O'Neal yesterday was re-elected chairman of the Allegany Committee of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation during a convention held at the local ASC office.

Re-elected vice chairman was James H. Weimer with Joseph W. Silver, re-elected a regular member of the committee. The two alternates named are Leonard J. Stegmaier and Russell M. Valentine.

The newly-elected officers will hold their initial meeting Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the local office. At that time they will elect a secretary and a treasurer to the county committee.

Delegates attending yesterday's convention included Roy A. Shroat Jr., Community No. 2; Ernest R. Slider, No. 3; Roy M. Twigg, No. 4; Leslie E. Hinkle, No. 5; Harry H. Delbrook, No. 6; Harry J. Barton, No. 7; Charles T. Clise, No. 8 and James A. Morgan, No. 9.

Duties of the county committee include planning the annual program and administering the agriculture conservation and price support program.

It also directs activities of the community committees elected throughout the county and makes available to the public information concerning objectives and operations of the program directed by the county group.

The committee also supervises acreage allotment and marketing quota programs and any other programs assigned to it by the Secretary of Agriculture or by Congress.

Md. PTA Seeks 'Sound' Plan For Desegregation

Maximum Local Control Urged

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP) — The Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers today affirmed its pledge to work for "sound plans" to end segregation in the public schools. Delegates representing 117,000 members in the State organization adopted a resolution which approved "a maximum amount of local control in bringing about desegregation."

The resolution was introduced by Alfred Toombs, president of the St. Marys County P-TA Council on behalf of delegates from five other local units in Montgomery, Anne Arundel, Kent, and Calvert counties.

Among these was Cmdr. J. M. Court of Owensville, who had sponsored the "West River proclamation" last summer. The proclamation called for a referendum on segregation.

The resolution adopted today called for full and frank discussion of segregation at all levels within the P-TA organization throughout the State. It expressed a belief this would help reach a solution of segregation problems.
